Wrestlers win two, drop to USL, 39-8

"We can compete with anyone in the Texas Conference, but with scholarship teams we have trouble," said Jim Giunta, Texas A&M's Wrestling coach.

Saturday the wrestling team competed with Southwest Texas, the University of Texas and Southwest Louisiana, in DeWare fieldhouse.

A&M defeated Texas and Southwest Texas, 36 to 18 and 18 to 3 respectively. Southwest Louisiana, an all scholarship team, defeated the Aggies 39 to 8.

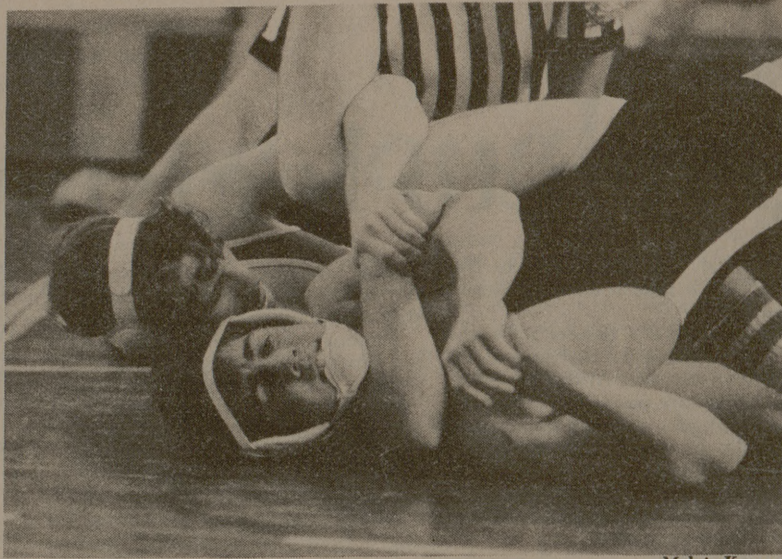

The Texas Conference consists of 14 teams of which Southwest Louisiana is not a member.

At the present time Texas Tech is in first place, Richland Junior College of Dallas is second and Texas A&M is third.

"Team balance is a major factor in A&M's favor, for we have an excellent second string and a great team spirit," said Giunta.

The next match will be against Texas Tech this coming Saturday, time pending the basketball game with Texas Tech.

Texas A&M's Bob Hines (bottom) appears to be in a bad position in his match against USL's Taylor Young. The Cajun went on to win the match as did his teammates in also outpointing the Aggies.

Girl cagers travel face Sam Houston

The women's basketball team will travel to Huntsville today to face Sam Houston State University.

The Aggies beat the Bearcats in a previous meeting this year. Game time for tonight's contest is 7 p.m.

The Aggies are coming off a successful weekend in Waco where they defeated three of four opponents to win third place in the Baylor Invitational Tournament. The host Baylor Bearettes won first place when they defeated runner-up University of Texas at Arlington in the final game.

The Aggies began play Thursday night against Texas Lutheran College. Texas Lutheran grabbed the early lead, but it didn't take A&M long to get rolling. With some fine shooting from Dana Callaway and Diane Quitta and excellent defensive play by Carol McAllister, the Aggies took over the lead.

From then on it was all downhill as the Ags demolished Texas Lutheran 84-55. McAllister and Sally Morris led the offensive onslaught with 12 points each while Callaway hit 10 and Quitta and Cindy Gough each scored eight. Quitta led in assists with 14.

The Aggies had similar good fortune in their next game against McLennan Community College. The Ags led the whole way as they rolled to an overwhelming 80-58 victory. Leading the way was Margaret Byrne with 16 points followed by McAllister and Morris, each scoring 12. Quitta scored nine while Gough and Cissy Auclair each scored eight points. Quitta again played an excellent game, getting 13 assists.

The weary Ags faced their toughest competition against the University of Texas at Arlington. Although leading most of the first half, the Aggies soon fell behind as a cold shooting and missed rebounding led to an 18-point deficit on strong and narrowed the down to six points.

But time was against them. buzzer, the Aggies found themselves on the short end of a 79-69 Auclair played a fine game for getting 22 points, while Quitta scored 15 and 12 points respectively.

Saturday the Aggies faced Texas State University in a game that had little difficulty as they won a 68-53 victory. Cindy Gough led the way, scoring 16 points and 16 rebounds. Morris scored 13, and Auclair and Quitta each scored eight points. Quitta in assists with 10.

Two Aggies, Auclair and Morris were selected to the All-Tournament team.

Coach Kay Don said he is proud of her team's performance, saying that the team played well offensively and defensively.

who needs a friend?

I DO!

THE FACT IS — WE ALL DO.

I am not talking about acquaintances. We all have plenty of those. I am talking about real friends—the do or die kind. We both know those aren't easy to come by.

In order to establish real friendships, we have to make ourselves available to meet other people, we have to be willing to work with other people, and if we expect other people to appreciate our ideas, we must be willing to listen to theirs.

If you hear an acquaintance or an unknown individual making a statement you don't agree with, it makes little difference. If that person were a true friend, you'd make the time to discuss it with him thoroughly.

When you have a personal problem to discuss or something to be happy about, you don't take it to an acquaintance—you take it to a true friend.

I could go on and on relating the differences between acquaintances and friends, but you already know the differences. The thing I want to tell you about is an organization which was founded to promote honest friendships.

When a group of Boston University law students first gathered together in 1909, they did so because they were already friends. But when they decided to expand their fraternity to take in new members on their own campus and on other campuses, they did so because they wanted to share their friendship. Because of their belief in the concept that honest friendships promote the best in men, over 120,000 individuals have shared their idea.

A group of acquaintances without purpose is called a clique, but that is where a fraternity is different. We have proven that the more a man learns about being a good fraternity brother, the more he knows about being a good friend to his associates outside the fraternity.

Even though you will make lifelong friendships within the fraternity, you will find that the real value of the fraternity is learning how to be a good friend and a productive member of society.

A fraternity is then a growth institution. It is designed to help your acquaintances grow, your friendships grow, and most importantly to help you grow as an individual.

You make many decisions every day. Choosing to join a fraternity, and, if so which one, is an important decision. The only individual capable of telling you about the fraternal experience is someone who has experienced it. Talk to a member of Lambda Chi Alpha about his experience.

I did and I found the fraternity experience to be extremely worthwhile.

Charlie Frick of Lambda Chi Alpha is meeting with interested students at the Aggeland Inn, February 10-13.
