

Harris asks for trial with Hearst

LOS ANGELES — The trial of Symbionese Liberation Army members William and Patricia Harris has delayed the case a month, and a defense attorney's joint trial with Patricia Hearst looking probable.

Superior Court Judge Marceller postponed to March 15 the rises' trial on 11 felony counts: kidnap, robbery and assault. The trial was granted Wednesday by the presentation of several motions.

Court-appointed defense lawyer Leonard Weinglass, asked that his clients would be tried with Miss Hearst, said, "We're not hearing toward that, but we're more probable."

The prosecution also seems agreeable to a joint trial with Hearst. Deputy Dist. Atty. S. Mayerson told Brandler, "It's quite amenable to making the trial available to a joint proceeding with Miss Hearst."

The Harris asked last week the delay so they could be tried with Miss Hearst, who is currently on federal bank robbery charges in San Francisco.

Brandler did not rule on the request immediately, saying he would give the matter "some thought."

Then, in a telephone call, District Judge Oliver C. Brandler presiding judge in the Harris trial was told that the trial would last about a month, that Miss Hearst would be "able" at that time.

If Carter's calculations are correct, Miss Hearst could be arraigned in Los Angeles by mid-March, to be tried with the Harris.

But Miss Hearst's lawyer, Fred Schlemmer, said he's opposed to a joint trial of his client and the rises. "That's the last thing I want," Bailey said.

Prosecution will rest case
Hearst will testify for jury

Associated Press
SAN FRANCISCO — The prosecution in Patricia Hearst's trial for bank robbery, with most of its big guns already fired, could rest its case by the end of the week.

Still to come is the playing of a taped communicate sent from the underground in which Miss Hearst said she willingly joined her terrorist kidnapers in the April 15, 1974, bank robbery.

U.S. Atty. James L. Browning Jr. said after Wednesday's court session that he has, in addition to playing the tape, "five or six more witnesses" to call.

They will testify on technical matters, detailing such things as the seizure of evidence and Miss Hearst's arrest last Sept. 18, he said.

Chief defense counsel F. Lee Bailey fought for two days at a special hearing outside the presence of the jury to suppress the taped communicate and to prohibit testimony about a shooting and kidnapping incident in Los Angeles in which Miss Hearst also is charged.

U.S. District Court Judge Oliver J. Carter ruled that the government could use the tape and the testimony of a Los Angeles teen-ager who said the newspaper heiress and two others held him hostage overnight in May 1974.

Carter's ruling all but assured that the defendant will take the stand in her own defense and recount for the jury her version of life with her Symbionese Liberation Army kidnapers.

Bailey acknowledged outside court that introduction of the tape would "sharply increase" the likelihood that he will ask Miss Hearst to repeat for the jury the story she told to the judge — and the world — on Tuesday.

She testified that she lived in constant fear of being killed by the SLA if she did not cooperate from the time she was kidnaped on Feb. 4, 1974, until shortly after her capture in San Francisco.

Browning called her story a lie and urged the judge to admit the tape and the evidence of her activities in Los Angeles.

"Everything the court has heard from Miss Hearst of her coercion in a year and a half is not true," he said.

Carter then declared that "by the preponderance of the evidence, the government has established that the statements made by the defendant after the happening of the bank robbery, by recording, orally or by writing, were made voluntarily."

He promised a detailed explanation of his decision in writing soon.

Having been tipped by Bailey in advance on what to expect from Carter, Miss Hearst sat expressionless. Her parents, Randolph and Catherine Hearst, did not move for several minutes.

The jury was then brought into the courtroom, and Browning called two witnesses to repeat the testimony that previously had been withheld from the sequestered jurors.

Anthony Shephard, a clerk at a sporting goods store in central Los Angeles, said he caught SLA members William and Emily Harris shoplifting and scuffled with them on the sidewalk.

Miss Hearst has admitted breaking up the fight by peppering the store with submachine gun fire from a van parked across a busy four-lane street from the store, allowing the Harris to flee.

Shephard said he later saw a woman who fitted the description of Miss Hearst walk toward him holding a weapon across her chest.

During cross-examination, Bailey attempted to destroy Shephard's credibility as a witness by alluding to Shephard telling police that the figure was 6 feet tall.

The 5-foot-3 Miss Hearst stood at Bailey's request, but Shephard contended he saw the person from the bottom of a hill and, from his direction, a short person would look taller. He never identified Miss Hearst with certainty.

Thomas Dean Matthews, a 19-year-old college student, testified that the Harris and Miss Hearst took him hostage and used his van as part of their getaway.

Smiling frequently and brushing hair from his eyes, the casually clad youth told of his night-long ride through the streets of Los Angeles with benevolent captors. He admitted a fondness for the Harris and Miss Hearst "because they were all so nice."

Miss Hearst, he said, deftly handled weapons in front of him, freely told how she joined the SLA and boasted of her role in the robbery.

She was constantly asking him if he was comfortable in the back of the van and patted him on the head several times, he said.

35 library carrels available

Graduate students were encouraged to apply for library carrels at last night's meeting of the Graduate Student Council.

Fred Schlemmer, a member of the Library Council, said that only 40 of the 75 carrels are occupied.

Schlemmer said the carrel policy had been changed to allow graduate students more space. The faculty has allocated 37 carrels while another 37 were allocated for short term use. Not all graduate students are eligible to use the carrels for a semester, only those students working on a thesis or dissertation.

The short term carrels are available to all graduate students by the day, week or month. All carrels are subject to double occupancy if there is sufficient demand.

Graduate students should make application for carrels at the administrative office of the Sterling C. Evans Library.

Schlemmer also proposed an extended loan period for research books. The council decided to poll other graduate students on the idea.

Council President Joe Marcelllo told the members they should be thinking of a professor to nominate
