Houston senior charged for not assisting officer

Associated Press
HOUSTON — A high school senior, charged under a little-used city ordinance with failing to assist a police officer, has pleaded innocent.

No trial date has been set for Erik Mrok, 18, who was charged Jan. 26 after Officer V. E. Woolley said he failed to respond to the officer's call for help in subduing a suspect.

Mrok said he did not know for sure that Woolley, who was not in uniform, was a policeman. Mrok, his mother and sister, came upon Woolley in a shopping center parking lot while he was trying to subdue a female shoplifting suspect.

Woolley sought at first to file a state charge against the teenager but the state statute had been repealed in 1973.

City Councilman Frank Manous has called for a review of the old city ordinance to determine if it should be retained. Mrok's attorneys say they will challenge the validity of the city ordinance.

Don't fret about health

"Grass" safer than booze

Associated Press
WASHINGTON — Don't fret about their health if your teenagers are experimenting with marijuana.

The majority of them are these days and it's safer than booze or cigarettes, says Dr. Robert L. DuPont of the National Institute on Drug Abuse.

DuPont confesses he smoked pot himself when he was younger and didn't know better.

Not that DuPont, a physician, is a marijuana advocate. Quite the contrary, he told newsmen Thursday. "If it was up to me I would stop use of all of these drugs — marijuana, alcohol and tobacco at the wave of my hand," he said.

But kids will be kids, he said, and it's important for parents "not to get so uptight" if their youngsters try pot a few times.

The most recent survey shows that for the first time a majority of 53 per cent of youths in the 18 to 25 age group admitted trying marijuana and 12 per cent of the 14 and 15 year olds are current users.

DuPont's advice to youths is: Don't take it up if you haven't already because it's expensive, messy and does pose some health risks. But the hazards are not as serious as cigarettes and alcohol, he said.

"Alcohol really does kill people from overdoses," he said, "but it is virtually impossible to die from marijuana."

Cigarettes cause cancer and respiratory and heart diseases, he added, but marijuana doesn't even cause bronchitis except among very heavy smokers. The institute's fifth marijuana report to Congress contains no evidence it causes permanent biological harm, he said.

If you smoke pot and are determined to continue, DuPont said, "use as little as possible and as responsibly as possible."

Marijuana intoxication can impair your reflexes and judgment just the same as too much beer, wine or liquor and presents a "clear and present danger" to auto drivers and machinery operators, he said.

There's still a lot scientists don't know about marijuana's effects on the body's chemistry and what they do know might be thrown out the window when more potent varieties of marijuana and hashish oil are used, he added.

DuPont said he personally has $25 fine rather than jail sentence simple possession of small amount of marijuana. That would be a signal that pot smoking is a bited behavior," he said, and comment would be reserved for ers in the drug.

cap Prairie View celebration

Prairie View A&M is, at least for February, observing two centennials.

While the year is being remembered as the 100th year since legislation established Prairie View A&M, the university is also commemorating the 100th anniversary of the birth of Carter G. Woodson, "Father of Black History."

Woodson, son of former slaves, became an educator and founded the Association for the Study of Negro Life and History in 1915, forerunner of the present-day organization that is a leader in compiling and studying the roots of Afro-Americans.

Woodson also produced the first issue of "Journal of Negro History" in 1916 and founded the first Negro History Week.

Celebrations began this week with more observances planned the remainder of February at Prairie View A&M.

Among the scheduled activities are academic seminars, distinguished blacks in medicine and sports, films on history, panel discussions, ROTC convocation with Medal of Honor holder Gen. Charles G. Jones, one-act plays, a musical service for those who died in armed forces; choral and jazz concerts; and seminars on minor nursing and health care.

Many non-academic groups as campus clubs and organizations are also planning displays and activities.

Black History Week, usually this week in February to honor Woodson's birth, is being observed all month nationwide this year.
