

Track team treks to Texas Relays

By PAUL MCGRATH
Battalion Sports Editor

The 49th Texas Relays get into full swing today with over 48 teams entering the university division.

Relays began yesterday with a 100-meter dash, won by Christopher Lythell of Brigham Young with 7.521 points. Jeff Wells of the University of Texas won the 10,000-meter run with a time of 28:55.08, a tenth of a second ahead of the second place runner.

The Texas A&M track team, led by Charles Thomas, will field a 22-man squad to the Austin Relays. The Texas Relays are the first of the triple crown of amateur relays. For the first time, all events will be in meters not yards. About 156 teams and 1,500 athletes will compete in the meet which includes some of the best talent in the country.

The feature race will be on Saturday afternoon, pitting the five top relay teams in the nation. Texas, Kansas, Arizona State, Florida all have a shot to capture the relay event. The Bears have a 3:09.3 and Texas a 3:10.2 this year. The Sun Devils have the best time in the nation thus far, but the Bears and Floridians cannot be edged out.

Featured will be 15 sub-four mile and five athletes with ability to throw over 60 feet in shot put. There will be a pair of sprinters who have conquered 18 and eight who have cleared 17 feet. The NCAA meet with a shot vault, and Roland Carter of the Gulf Coast Track Club will be the favorite.

A half mile has amongst a stellar field one of the top 880 men in the nation. Kenyan Mike Boit of Eastern New Mexico should be the favorite after running a 1:43.8 earlier in the year.

All Southwest Conference and Southeastern Conference teams will compete along with last year's outstanding team in the Relays, UT-EP.

The Aggies should have qualifiers in both hurdles events, the 880-yard run and pole vault. Texas A&M will also field competitive relay teams in the sprint medley relay, two-mile relay and 880-yard relay.

Shifton Baker, Craig McPhail and Curtis Collier forefront the Ags in the hurdles and Jim Brannen, Joel Vogt, Tommy Glass and Tony Wheeler will take on the 880. Wheeler has the best time in the SWC this year with a 1:48.7.

Charles Dawson, Ray Brooks and Chuck Butler will compete for Thomas in the sprints with Manfred Kohrs and Walter Jachimowicz listed for the distance races.

Bill Newton (javelin), Steve Stewart (discus), Frank West and Craig Carter (shot), Ronnie Keys and Don Riggs (high jump), Brad Blair (pole vault) and Tom Owen (long jump) are scheduled for the field events.

Thomas is very optimistic about the future of his team. "We have a real strong team but nobody knows because we aren't getting the publicity of teams like Baylor and Texas," Thomas said.

The Bears and Longhorns lose most of their top point scores after this season while the Aggies will lose only a minimal amount after graduation.

Today's prelims start at 9 a.m. with competition continuing until 9 p.m. Saturday's competition will stretch from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Cager tries teaching

Associated Press

SHREVEPORT, La. — Students at Valencia Jr. High knew Robert Parish was not your average student-teacher the moment he ducked through the gym door.

The door was seven feet tall. The height that makes him stoop under doors made Parish a star basketball player at Centenary College for four years and a V.I.P. at Valencia.

"When he first came here, it seemed almost all the kids and teachers looped through the gym on the way to class to see him," said Bill Ducote, Valencia's full-time boys' gym teacher and Parish's supervisor while he student-taught.

But Ducote said that novelty wore off quickly and the 7-foot-1 Parish became "just another teacher" — who can dunk a basketball almost flatfooted, block shots at will and nearly leap tall buildings in a single bound.

"I didn't enjoy teaching at first," Parish says. "I didn't have the patience and the kids wouldn't pay attention. I gave student-teachers and substitutes a hard time when I was in school, and I guess it came back at me."

"Robert is usually even-tempered, but when he first started teaching, he came to practice with a scowl on his face," said Riley Wallace, a Centenary assistant basketball coach. "We asked him what was wrong. He said, 'It's those kids. They're driving me up a wall.'"

However, Ducote says Parish worked at communicating with his seventh, eighth and ninth graders and became a good instructor. He gave lessons in basketball, volleyball and track.

Thirteen-year-old Rickey Moore won't soon forget the sight of Parish playing with and against children nearly half his size.

"It was amazing to actually see someone that tall," the eighth grader said. "We were pretty lucky though — kids in the other classes said they wish they could have played against him like we did."

Student teaching — first at Valencia and now at Werner Park Elementary — was one of Parish's requirements for a degree in physical education. It's a degree he says his parents wanted him to get, even though he could have left college long ago for the big money of pro basketball.

Spring training for the Women's collegiate softball team will begin Wednesday, April 7 at 3:30 p.m.

The practices will be held at the intramural softball fields located at Wellborn Highway, opposite campus.

The practices will be set up on an interval basis, designed to and improve on individual skills such as batting, base running, fielding. Also scheduled are several practice games.

This is the first year we've had spring training," said Coach Kay. "We're having it to build a better, stronger team for the fall."

Gibson set a new school record in A&M's single victory of three games against Baylor Monday and Tuesday.

Gibson will go up against Rice star pitcher Allan Ramirez (8-2).

The Aggies are 24-4 for the season with a 7-2 conference record. Rice is 13-14 this season with a 6-6 record for conference play after three losses last weekend to fourth-ranked Texas.

Clint Thomas (5-2) will start today's opener. Thomas could tie the A&M career win record of 21 with a victory.

The Aggies' starting lineup should look like this: Buddy Grobe (second base), Robert Bonner (shortstop), Bill Raymer (rightfield), Kirk Campbell (first base), Randy Blanchard or Buster Turner (designated hitter), Mark Thurmond (centerfield), Winston Whiddon (third base), Robert Verde (leftfield) and John Biersner (catcher).
