Paper surveys literary activities

Richard Hauer Costa, Executive Secretary of the South Central Modern Language Association and Editor of Quartet, is one of the scholars and writers in the state collaborating to present Texas Books in Review, a new major interdisciplinary publication surveying Texas literary activities and reviewing books published by Texas presses.

In a special newspaper format, Texas Books in Review will feature interesting and informative articles on a variety of activities of literary and academic importance in the state. For example, Peter Garvie, Dean of Fine Arts at the University of Texas at Austin, will write on Preston Jones, Texas' nationally known playwright whose work has been presented at the Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C. An article reviewing books on the history of several Texas universities — Southern Methodist University, Trinity University, Texas Tech University, Texas Christian University, and Texas A&M University — will provide valuable information to those interested in higher education in the state. Texas' wealth of Chicano writers will be considered in a piece by Tomas Rivera, and an awareness of contemporary Texas novelists will be fostered and expanded by an article written by Walter Isle, Chairman of English at Rice University. A survey of European historical sources in Texas will be indispensable to scholars and individuals interested in that field. State support of the arts, and other topics, will also be covered.

Texas Books in Review will include in-depth and shorter reviews of books released by Texas presses, plus will list all books published in the state. Reports on various literary conventions, such as the annual meeting of the Texas Association of Creative Writing Teachers, Texas Library Association, Texas Poetry Association, and Austin Festival of Poets, will also be featured.

Outstanding scholars and writers from throughout the state are collaborating to present Texas Books in Review. They include: Walter Isle, English Chairman, Rice University; Robert G. Collmer, English Chairman, Baylor University; James L. Colwell, Dean of Arts and Education, University of Texas of the Permian Basin; T. K. Meier, English Faculty, Farleigh Dickinson University; James Rushing, Director of Undergraduate Studies, Texas Tech University; Joe Frantz, Professor of History, University of Texas at Austin; William Martin, English Chairman, Tarleton State University; Lee Gaillard, English Chairman, The Hockaday School; L. G. Kennamer, Dean of Education, UT Austin; Charles Stubblefield, Associate Professor of English, University of Nebraska; Millicent Huff, Editor, Texas Libraries; Peter Garvie, Dean of Fine Arts, UT Austin; Bradley Carter, Associate Professor of Political Science, Southern Methodist University; Donald Worcester, Professor of History, Texas Christian University; Rainer Schulte, Professor of Comparative Literature, University of Texas at Dallas; Roger Olien, History Chairman, UT Permian Basin; Richard Hauer Costa, Executive Secretary, South Central Modern Language Association, professor at Texas A&M University; Tomas Rivera, Vice-President for Administration, University of Texas at San Antonio; Margaret Neussendorfer, Associate Professor of English, UT Permian Basin; Edwin S. Harwood, Reviewer, Wall Street Journal; Duncan Wimpers, President of

Trinity University; Max West, Professor of English, UT Permian Basin; and Vance Muse, Vice-President, Madrona Press.

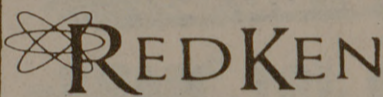

Texas Books in Review edited by James P. White, Janice L. White, Michael Anderson and David England will be published annually. The first issue will be released early in 1977. The spread distribution to faculty, awareness and appreciation of books published by Texas and literary activities in the state. The edition will be valuable to individuals and institutions interested in the rapidly changing Texas literary scene. The publication can be pre-ordered for a publication price of $1.00. The Editors, Texas Books in Review, Box 6281, Air Terminal, Midland, Texas 79701.

Aggie gets $1,500

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. — A 1976 Texas A&M graduate, Jeffrey Dunn, has been awarded a $1,500 State Farm Companies Foundation Exceptional Student Fellowship award, the Foundation announced today.

The fellowship is one of 10 awarded annually by the Foundation since 1964 to aid outstanding young people in preparing for leadership roles in industry and society. Awards to college seniors or first-year graduate students are made in business-related fields. Dunn was the immediate Student Body President and his B.A. degree in economics member of Omicron Delta Epsilon and Phi Eta Sigma honor societies. He is also a Texas A&M Aggie Student.

He plans to enter the Baines Johnson School of Public Affairs at the University of Austin, to study law/public administration.

A&M engineers get asst. dean

Steven A. Yates has been appointed assistant dean in the College of Engineering at Texas A&M University according to Dean Fred J. Benson.

Yates' primary responsibilities will involve coordination of the College of Engineering's expanding cooperative education program, Benson said.

Yates was cooperative education coordinator at Alvin Community College for more than two years. He previously taught business education at the College of the Mainland at Texas City.

"His primary function here will be to administer the daily operation of the engineering co-op program and to develop agreements with junior colleges for the transfer of their co-op students to Texas A&M's College of Engineering," explained Dean Benson.

At Alvin Community College, Yates initiated and developed its campus-wide co-op program. He also was chairman of a consortium of eight junior colleges formed to develop federal funding and follow-up plans for funding from the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System. Dean Benson said Yates' duties here will include developing state funding for Texas A&M co-op students.

Yates is the president of Cooperative Education Association of Texas and is a member of Texas Junior College Teachers Association and the Texas Education Association.

He holds degrees from the Christian College and the University of Houston.

The Bacardi Driver. Zippier than a screwdriver. Easy as 1, 2, 3.

1. Pour 1 1/2 oz. Bacardi light rum over ice in a tall glass.
2. Pour on ice cold orange juice.
3. Squeeze and drop in a lime or lemon wedge. Now you're ready to sip some zip. Because Bacardi and that hint of lime or lemon really turn on the OJ!
