

Remington and Russell art on display in MSC

This triumphant 25½-inch bronze figure was sculpted in 1898 by Frederic Remington.

Some of the finest paintings and bronzes depicting the American frontier are on display at the Rudder Center exhibit hall.

Part of the Sid W. Richardson collection of works by Frederic Remington and Charles M. Russell is re-visiting the campus until Aug. 19. The showing opened Monday.

Most of the 30 paintings and 10 bronzes in the current exhibit were shown here in 1974.

"It's like meeting old friends again," one art-lover remarked.

The cooperation and financial assistance of the Richardson Foundation and the Amon Carter Museum of Western Art made the showing possible. Besides providing the works themselves, the organizations also provided funds to hire guards.

The showing is officially for the enjoyment of the members and guests of the 68th annual meeting of the American Society of Animal Science, but anyone can view the artworks while the Rudder Complex is open (usually 8 a.m. to 11 p.m.)

Security personnel counted 106 persons scanning and studying the famous paintings and bronzes Sunday after they were installed.
