

Try to break five-game losing streak

Sooners search for winning ways in Missouri

United Press International
KANSAS CITY, Mo. — His team as lost five of its last six basketball games, but Oklahoma coach Dave Bliss says it is only a matter of time before the Sooners become consistent winners.

"There are some obvious shortcomings, but they are all based on inexperience," said Bliss, whose team opened the season with seven straight wins. "Everybody thought we were going to have a great team this year, but I felt all along this was just another rebuilding year. Very few teams in the country are as inexperienced as we are."

As the Sooners prepare for a Big Eight Conference game today at Missouri, Bliss is toying with the idea of using as many as three freshmen in his starting lineup. Nine of the top 12 players on the Sooner squad are either freshmen or sophomores.

In other league games today, Kansas hosts Oklahoma State and Kansas State hosts Iowa State in games featuring teams that won their league openers. Colorado visits Nebraska.

"Some of the teams around this league have been together for a couple of years, but we've only been a team for a couple of months," said Bliss, whose squad is 8-5 overall and 0-1 in the Big Eight after a one-point loss at Oklahoma State last Saturday.

"Going to Missouri we have played seven straight road games, and a team has to have experience before it can go on the road and consistently expect to win," said the second-year head coach. "It is a matter of getting a little more game time for the kids, and then we will be in good shape."

Bliss' lineup for the Missouri game will feature either freshman Al Beal or Drew Head at center, freshman Clifford Johnson or Terry Stotts.

Freshman Aaron Curry may start at guard.

Missouri has experience, even though it is coming off a 77-72 loss at Kansas last Saturday in a fight-marred game that saw the team and coach Norm Stewart pushed and shoved by Kansas fans after the defeat.

Missouri, expected to defend its league title successfully, features seniors Jim Kennedy and Kim Anson, junior college transfer Clay Johnson in the frontcourt and senior Scott Sims and freshman Larry Drew at guards. The first two players off the bench are sophomore center Stan Ray, a starter on last year's championship team, and 6-7 senior James Claborn, who can play any position.

Kansas coach Ted Owens hopes his team can continue to win the close ones — something the Jayhawks were unable to do a year ago when they were 13-13 overall and 6-8 in the league and lost six league games total of 15 points.

Iowa State heads to Kansas State already assured of bettering last year's record. The Cyclones, under first-year coach Lynn Nance, have won four games — one more than they did last year — and have already equalled last year's conference win total with one victory.
