

FEB.
16-19

SCONA 22

FEB.
16-19

STUDENT CONFERENCE ON NATIONAL AFFAIRS

“THE EXPRESSION OF INDIVIDUALITY IN AMERICAN SOCIETY”

SCONA CONCEPT

The belief that a concerned and informed citizenry will be better equipped to deal with the problems facing the United States, coupled with the absence within most university curricula of a mechanism to encourage interest in national issues, led to the establishment in 1955 of the Student Conference On National Affairs (SCONA). Since its founding, SCONA has been an annual three and one half day program at Texas A&M University. It provides an opportunity to discuss issues of national concern for students representing universities throughout the United States, Canada and Mexico. In addition it gives them an opportunity to listen to and meet with nationally recognized spokesmen on these issues.

The Conference format has been carefully structured to encourage open discussion and the free exchange of ideas. Each year a broad Conference theme is selected. Recognized national spokesmen are chosen to provide contrasting viewpoints on the selected Conference theme. Discussions of the speeches and related areas are the emphasis of Round Table sessions composed of eighteen students and two Co-Chairmen who serve to stimulate and direct discussions.

SPEAKERS

Dr. Ruth Fry

Dr. M. L. Sharrah

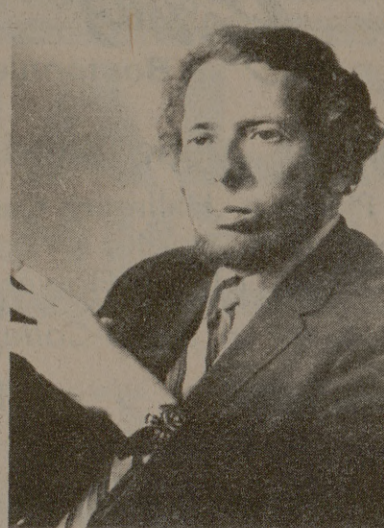

All speeches are open to the public.

Dr. Ruth Fry, director and founder of the C. G. Jung Educational Center in Houston: "The 'I' in Society : Relating to Others in the Modern World" 2:45 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 16

Dr. M. L. Sharrah, senior vice president of Research and Engineering of Continental Oil Co. (Conoco) "The Individual in the Working World" 9 a.m. Thursday

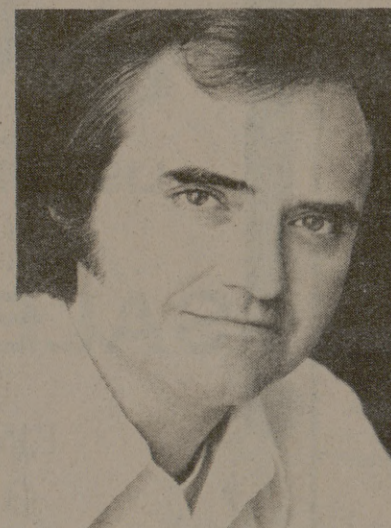

Dr. Nathaniel Branden

Dr. Stanley Milgram

Dr. Nathaniel Branden, executive director of the Bio-centric Institute of Los Angeles: "Establishing an Identity: The Individual in Relation to Himself" 3:30 Thursday.

Dr. Stanley Milgram, professor at City University in New York City: "Controller or Controlled? The Individual in Relation to his Environment" Friday 11:00 a.m.

Lynn Ashby

Lynn Ashby, editorial columnist for the Houston Post 11 a.m. Saturday: "The Expression of Individuality in American Society"

FREE TO THE PUBLIC!
For further information call 845-1515

ROUND TABLE SESSION

SESSION I

WEDNESDAY 2-2:30 P.M.
Introductory

SESSION II

WEDNESDAY 4:45-6:00 P.M.
Covering speech by Dr. Ruth Fry on "The 'I' in Society: Relating to Others in the Modern World"

SESSION III

THURSDAY 11-12:15 A.M.
Covering speech by Dr. M. L. Sharrah on "The Individual in the Working World"

SESSION IV

THURSDAY 8-9:30 P.M.
Covering speech by Dr. Nathaniel Branden on "Establishing an Identity: The Individual in Relation to Himself"

SESSION V

FRIDAY 9:00-10:45
Continuation of discussion of previous issues.

SESSION VI

FRIDAY 3:00-5:00 P.M.
Covering speech by Dr. Stanley Milgram on "Controller or Controlled? The Individual in Relation to his Environment"

SESSION VII

SATURDAY 8:30-10:00
Wrap-up session

OVERVIEW

Lynn Ashby, editorial columnist for the Houston Post: "The Expression of Individuality in American Society"

FREE TO THE PUBLIC!
For further information call
845-1515