TV special on A&M to be aired

KDFW-TV, a Dallas-based television station with the potential for reaching a larger number of viewers than any other station in the Southwest, has produced a special on Texas A&M University for prime-time airing March 12.

production provides a superb overview of A&M, emphasizing people and programs and including interviews with some 10 students. In addition to the Dallas-Fort Worth metropolitan area, KDFW serves a wide area of North, East and West Texas — some 60 counties — as well as a large portion of Oklahoma, via either direct signal or cable connection. The presentation will be at 10 p.m. Saturday, March 12. The station is delaying its regular newscast 30 minutes in order to show the A&M program

KDFW officials said they make a video tape of the show able to the University for subsequent showings. Representatives for both television stations, the Bryan-College Station KAMU and KBTX, have indicated interest in showing the program locally.
