Killer White may receive death wish

United Press International
HUNTSVILLE — A judge this week probably will decide a date for resentencing condemned killer Robert Excell White to die in the electric chair, a fate White pleaded for last year.

White, who last year asked that his death be televised as a statement against capital punishment, lost an appeal before the U.S. Supreme Court yesterday.

The court, acting in a brief order and without comment, refused to review the murder conviction that sent White to death row.

White has been on death row more than two years.

Currently no inmates on death row in the Texas Department of Corrections have a scheduled execution date. Appeals are pending for Ernest Benjamin Smith of Dallas and Jerry Lane Jurek of Cuero, both of whom found temporary relief in federal court in recent weeks.

Horse show attracts 150 riders, all Aggies

Texas A&M students were the only participants in the second Intercollegiate Horse Show held Sunday by the A&M Horseman's Association. The horse show was rescheduled at the Brazos County Arena Sunday after being rained out April 16.

There were a total of 150 entries in all of the horse show events, and about 30 spectators were present.

Dr. Gary D. Potter, associate professor of animal science and advisor to the Horseman's Association, said he felt the sparse turnout was because the show was rained out the first time. There also were several other horse shows going on in the immediate area Sunday, he said. Although the show was open to all colleges, only A&M students entered.

Penny Sue Menefee, a senior agriculture journalism major, was the top winner of the show and received a red monogrammed horse blanket. She and "Hard Tack," a six-year-old palomino gelding owned by Debbie Stormer, accumulated 20 points to win the High Point exhibitor award in the English division.

Menefee was also the winner of the Versatility class which consists of four consecutive tests of the horse's skill. She rode her 11-year-old gelding, "Brazos Cash," to win all events in the class and came away from the show with the silver tray.

Linden Reeves, a graduate student in animal science, also won a silver tray as the first runner-up in the Versatility class.

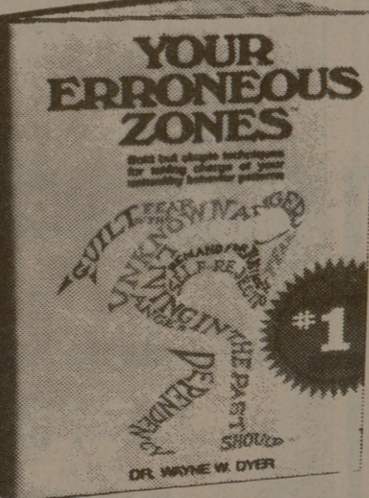

Kathy Baer, a junior animal science major, accumulated 15 points in the English division of the show to win the Reserve High Point exhibitor award.

Mindy Jay, a junior animal science major, won the High Point exhibitor award in the western division. She and her 14-year-old gelding, "Mac Snip," accumulated 36 points.

Sharon Guidry, a senior animal science major, was the Reserve High Point exhibitor in the western division with 23 points.

Dr. Potter said that money earned from the show will allow the Horseman's Association to help sponsor judging teams in intercollegiate contests and to finance other activities of the club.

THE DEAN OF BEER'S QUICKIE QUIZ.

Q: The best water for beer comes from:

- a) Big Duck Mountain.
- b) Underground from Tijuana.
- c) A small store in Macon, Ga.
- d) None of the above.

A: (d) The way some beer drinkers talk about water, you'd think Alice found it in Wonderland.

Not that water isn't important to a beer's taste. It is. Very important.

But the fact is, virtually all brewers filter and further purify their brewing water.

And Schlitz doesn't stop there. They put their water through what they believe is the most sophisticated purifying process of any brewer in the world.

So when they're through, it's purer than the purest springwater.

THERE'S JUST ONE WORD FOR BEER.

AND YOU KNOW IT.
