FAMOLARE

The Hi There® MERLOT

A SONNET REALIZED

When tradition and modern technology come together in one harmonious design, the creation can be worthy of a Shakespeare. So rhapsodize over the Hi There® sandal, a sophisticated achievement that caresses your foot in flattering contours. Anatomically constructed of supple leathers to perform gracefully and flatter the leg, the Hi There® is truly a poet's delight. And, what's more, it is probably the most comfortable high-heeled shoe you'll ever wear.

Has lot to learn

Dorsett still popular topic

United Press International
DALLAS — Until such time as Tony Dorsett decides he would rather spend his time doing something other than carrying footballs for a living, he is going to be a subject matter.

Dorsett carried the ball only four times in Dallas' opening victory against Minnesota last week for 11 yards. And he fumbled once near the Vikings goal line.

The man who started at tailback, Preston Pearson, had an excellent game, caught a touchdown pass and was awarded a game ball.

But when coach Tom Landry met the press Tuesday, Dorsett was still a popular topic.

"Tony will play more and more as the season goes on," said Landry of his top draft pick. "There is no telling when he might have a good day."

The main problem is that he missed so much repetition in training camp (with a bruised knee). He didn't run plays for two weeks. He doesn't have a feel for the plays yet and has not yet learned the blocking patterns of the line.

"But I have no reservations about Tony Dorsett. When he makes his move he is really going to make it. I anticipate he will probably play more this week (against the New York Giants) than he did last week.

"I meant to use him more than I did last week, but the situation of the game dictated that we go more with experience."

And Landry said that he was not concerned that Preston Pearson's ego would be bruised by the attention paid to Dorsett.

"The only thing I know is that Preston has had his greatest summer and he is playing as well as I've ever seen him play," Landry said.

"Preston has a lot of pride and he is going to play as well as he can to fight for that job."

As for the Cowboys' overtime victory against the Vikings, Landry came away delighted with his youthful defense, which had four players starting at new positions.

"We were moving and hitting and our young people played well," Landry said. "They tried to take advantage of Randy White (starting at defensive tackle) and he held up well. And this was a good game for Aaron Kyle (at cornerback) because he played great and will get encouragement from that."

"And Thomas Henderson (who linebacker, had the responsibility of running back Chuck Foreman) took much of the day made some mistakes. But he came back to make some excellent plays as well."

But Landry seemed most pleased with Bob Breunig, who started his first game at middle linebacker in place of the retired Lee Roy Jordan.

Aggie to participate in pentathlon championship

By JEANNE GRAHAM

One of the first women ever to enter the World Championship Modern Pentathlon is an Aggie.

Cathy Coker, 18-year-old sophomore at Texas A&M University and resident of College Station, is one of only three women in the United States to make the team.

The Women's Modern Pentathlon is a contest consisting of five events: an 800-meter cross-country horseback ride, a 2,000-meter cross-country run, a 200-meter swim, a fencing contest, and a pistol shoot.

Cathy, at 5'6" and 124 lbs., says she has always enjoyed athletics, but it wasn't until this past summer that she had aspirations of making the pentathlon team.

"Dad just heard that there was going to be a women's pentathlon, and encouraged me to enter," she said.

Cathy attended a clinic at Ft. Sam Houston, Texas during the summer to learn and practice the five sports.

"I had to pick up fencing and shooting," she explained.

Then seven women, including Cathy, were invited to the National Pentathlon held at Ft. Sam Houston in late July. Cathy won the cross-country horseback ride, was second in the swim and cross-country run, sixth in fencing, and eighth in the pistol shoot. She and two others qualified for the World Champ-

Three conference colleges in top 10

United Press International
NEW YORK — The University of Michigan shrugged off its 24th struggle with Duke this past weekend to retain the No. 1 spot in the UPI Board of Coaches college football ratings by an overwhelming margin.

The Wolverines, who had their problems defeating the heavy underdog Blue Devils at Ann Arbor, received 27 first-place votes from the coaches and 370 total votes. Southern California, which had similar problems in overcoming Oregon State 17-10 was second with 303 points, including five first-place nods.

Ohio State, which routed Minnesota for its second straight win, was third with 279 points and two first-place votes, while Oklahoma gathered in four No. 1 nods, but was still fourth with 253 total points. The Sooners routed Utah, 62-24, but apparently most of the coaches expected that and were not impressed.

Penn State, which routed Houston, 31-14, to reassert itself as the pride of the East, was fifth with 223 points and one first-place vote.

Three unbeaten Southwest Conference powers helped complete the top 10. Texas Tech was sixth, Texas A&M seventh and Texas ninth. Colorado was eighth and Florida 10th.
