

Former manager files suit

ORLANDO, Fla. — Former Texas Rangers manager Frank Lucchesi says he filed suit against Lenny Randle, the infielder who punched him March 28, to try and prevent any such incident from happening again in baseball.

Lucchesi, 50, said he filed the suit Wednesday not for the money but to preserve the integrity of baseball.

He said he took the action "so something like this will never happen again in baseball or any other sport. If you let Randle or any other player get away with this kind of violence, then anyone could punch out his manager or coach, get traded and then come out smelling like a rose."

Shepherd, seeks more than $2,500 in damages, the minimum needed to have the case heard in circuit court.

Lucchesi, who was fired by the Rangers in June, said he wanted a summons to be served on Randle personally "so he could do a little thinking. I've had to suffer a lot with this thing and now I think it's time he started thinking about it too."

The personal injury suit, filed by Orlando attorney James E.

Aggie notes...

Texas A&M coach Emory Bellard said Tuesday he was concerned about the physical condition of fullback George Woodard, who pulled a groin muscle against Virginia Tech last Saturday. "He was at practice Monday, but he couldn't run," said Bellard. "He will play against Texas Tech Saturday if he can run, but if he can't, then Eddie Hardin will be our fullback. Woodard's injury is not a serious one, but it is serious this week."

Texas Tech head coach Steve Sloan said Tuesday his No. 6 ranked Red Raiders were not even close to being ready for No. 7 ranked Texas A&M this week. "Every team having to play A&M should automatically be awarded an open date the week before," Sloan said, contending it would take at least two weeks to be ready for A&M. Sloan also said walk-on kicking specialist Bill Adams had been awarded a scholarship following his record-tying seven extra points in Tech's win over New Mexico last week.

Texas A&M sold its 6,288 tickets for the Texas Tech game back in June. Also some 600 ticket orders had to be refunded.

The Aggie Band will be on hand Saturday night in Lubbock. The band missed the Virginia Tech game and will not go to Michigan but will make nine of A&M's 11 games.

R.C. (Beau) Bell, A&M's all-America centerfielder in 1931, died in College Station on Sept. 13 at age 70. He played in the majors eight years with the St. Louis Browns, won two SWC titles as Aggie baseball coach (1951-59) and was inducted into A&M's Athletic Hall of Fame in 1971.

Sophomore Curtis Dickey netted 44 yards against Virginia Tech to raise his season's rushing total to 277 and his career mark to 1,003. He needs 83 more to pass John Kimbrough for the No. 10 spot on the A&M all-time list.

Junior fullback George Woodard had 82 yards against Virginia Tech and a career total of 1,989. He is third on the all-time list. Bubba Bean leads with 2,846 and Bob Smith is second at 2,415.

Junior Mark Thurmond will be the starting pitcher next Sunday when the A&M baseball team plays a team of Houston Astro farmhands in the Astrodome. The game will be the second of a doubleheader as the Astros play the L.A. Dodgers at 2 p.m.

Aggie swimmer Bob Leland, who just returned from a trip to Russia with the U.S. team, is ranked 3rd in the nation and 17th in the world in the 200-meter breaststroke.

A&M has had a change in its upcoming basketball schedule. The Ags will host SW Louisiana on Dec. 1 rather than SW Texas.

A&M coach Emory Bellard: "Virginia Tech has some good players and they played with a lot of enthusiasm. Jimmy Sharpe (Va. Tech coach) does a good job. I felt we played well but missed a lot of opportunities. There is no question we know who we play next (Texas Tech) but we weren't looking ahead."

FB George Woodard: "They stacked up the middle real well. I was really impressed with their defense."

LB Kevin Monk: "Virginia Tech was better than last year. Their offensive line really did a good job. We got together and regrouped. A good defense always stiffens when it has to."

Va. Tech Coach Jimmy Sharpe: "A&M has taken the triple option a step further, giving it a new dimension. They have size, speed, a lot of talent and defensively, they gamble a lot. We had some great defensive plays but we had some costly turnovers and penalties. The score isn't a true indication of the hitting in the game."

A dozen former Aggies are sticking with pro teams. Ed Simonini has won a starting LB slot with Baltimore. OG Dennis Swilley is with Minnesota; DT Edgar Fields with Atlanta; HB Bubba Bean with Atlanta; LB Garth TenNapel with Detroit; OG Glenn Bujnoch with Cincinnati; Saf. Dave Elmendorf and DB Pat Thomas, both with L.A. Rams; LB Brad Dusek with Washington; DE Tank Marshall with NY Jets; Saf. Tim Gray with Kansas City and DT Jimmy Dean with Houston. LB Robert Jackson was injured and will miss all year after being drafted by Cleveland.
