Six (weekend) ways to keep from studying

Going to the A&M-Michigan football game in Ann Arbor? Two recommended restaurants are The Gandy Dancer downtown and The Pretzel Bell near the campus. The Gandy Dancer, which is railroad slang for rail workers, is a renovated railroad depot. The Pretzel Bell is Ann Arbor's oldest restaurant and probably fed former President Gerald Ford when he was a student there.

If you can't attend the game, you can watch it on local Channel 3 (cable Channel 5) at 12:30 p.m. Saturday. During halftime, notice the Michigan band's quick marching cadence, which they claim is one of the fastest in the nation.

If prowling around with lions, exotic birds and monkeys sounds fun, try Wild Animals International near Bryan. Take FM 2818 west, turn left on Leonard Road and follow the signs to Gate 3, the public entrance. Wild Animals International, which is a 60-acre breeding compound, offers a visitors petting zoo, restaurant and hour-long walks through the facility. This world wide assortment of animals is open seven days a week, from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., and costs $1.50 for A&M students with ID cards. General admission is $2, kids under 12 or over 65 pay $1. "Fashion Fantasia," a women's style show, is set for 1:30 p.m. Saturday in Rudder Theatre. International's famous designer Les Wilk's creations will be shown by professional models. The show is sponsored by the MSC Hospitality Committee. Cost is $1 for A&M students and $2 for the general public.

It's not immoral or illegal, but A&M's Creamery could be fattening and is delicious. Located between the Data Processing Center and the Plant Science Building on Spence Street, the Creamery's meat, milk products, ice cream, eggs. The fountain sells milkshakes (both 50 cents) and other assorted goodies. A half-gallon homogenized milk from Creamery Aggie cows costs 75 cents. Hours are from 8:15 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays and from 8:15 a.m. to noon Saturday. Non-fountain products may be still purchased 15 minutes after the fountain closes.

The "Trial of Lee Harvey Oswald," a TV drama partially filmed in Dallas and McKinney, Texas, what might have happened if Ruby had not killed JFK's assassin, John Pleshette, has been cast to play the role of Lee Harvey Oswald and closely resembles Oswald in looks, height and weight. It is scheduled for 8 p.m. Friday, ABC, local Channel 3 (cable Channel 5). Part II is set for 8 p.m. Saturday.

United Press International DENVER—Peter L. Sabino still cringes when he thinks what might have happened if his wife had gotten the tickets she wanted to see singer John Davidson at a Kentucky supper club last May.

She asked for tickets to a 9:30 p.m. show at the Beverly Hills Supper Club in Southgate, Ky. She was told the show was sold out, so she settled for tickets to a performance two hours later.

The supper club exploded in flames and 164 people were killed during the early show, Sabino, a Cincinnati fire captain who was waiting in line when the fire broke out, saved 20 to 30 persons.

"It's kind of a chilling thought," he said. "We would have been in that room when the fire broke out if she had gotten those tickets."

Sabino reminisced about the fire Tuesday while in Denver to receive the Benjamin Franklin Award for saving the diners. The 43-year-old officer was honored at a convention of the International Association of Fire Chiefs.

"It's a shame that something like this has to happen before people think about such dangers," said Sabino. "But it wasn't long after the fire that we checked out a Cincinnati nightclub and found an exit blocked. No one seemed to care."

Sabino, who has been a fireman for 21 years, was waiting in a corridor with his wife, Dorothy, and their 20-year-old son, Peter, and his girlfriend, when the fire broke out. A hostess ushered them outside and told them about the blaze.

"Being a fireman, I thought I could help," said Sabino. "I thought there might be a tablecloth, a rug or a drape burning, and I could contain it until the other firemen arrived."

Sabino then re-entered the club and discovered how bad the fire was. The heat forced him and a waiter to their knees and they crawled to safety. The fireman found another exit and crawled 15 or 20 feet to a set of doors. People were stacked on people, some unconscious, and most unable to get out.

"All I could see was legs and arms," he said. "They were stacked. Kneeling on the floor, I reached up in the smoke and grabbed heads, arms, belt buckles—anything I could grab hold of. I don't know how many people I got. It was 20 or possibly 30."

Sabino said he grabbed a woman by the arm, but couldn't get her. He said her leg either caught by the door or held by a mound of bodies.

"I stood up in the smoke and tried to dislodge her body, but I couldn't do it," he said. "I would like to see her lived, but I just don't know had to get out of there. I couldn't breathe any more."
