

Beer, prizes get Ags to donate blood

The Aggie Blood Drive will be held next week, but this year's sponsors have added a new incentive — a contest in which winners may receive kegs of beer.

The blood drive, to be held at the MSC Oct. 11 through 13, will be sponsored by the Student Government, Alpha Phi Omega and Omega Phi Alpha.

The contest is open to any organization, on- or off-campus group, corp unit, dorm, apartment complex or academic club.

To participate in the competition, an organization must give 25 pints of blood, thereby being eligible for the drawing for prizes. For each five pints given after the original 25, the organization can receive an extra chance to win in the drawing.

Three kegs of beer or an equivalent prize will be given, with Loupots Book Store and Schaffhauser Distributing Co. sponsoring the prizes. The drawing will be held Oct. 19.

Rules and entry blanks can be obtained at the Alpha Phi Omega cubicle in the Student Programs Office, Room 216 MSC, now through Oct. 13.

Individuals may sign up to give blood through Thursday, at tables set up in Sbsa Dining Hall, the Commons and the MSC. Persons who wish to give blood do not have to sign up for a specific time.

Supreme Court docket full, sensitive issues rejected

United Press International
WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court, in a downpour of orders starting its new term, agreed Monday to take up a potpourri of cases involving everything from child sterilization to lawyer solicitation and sex-segregated pension plans.

The justices rejected appeals involving such sensitive minority issues as the firing of a homosexual teacher, racial quotas ordered for Chicago police promotions, and the Kiwanis Club's policy of excluding women from membership.

In a piece of good news for civil rights groups, however, they let stand a controversial desegregation plan for Wilmington, Del., that requires the merger of school districts encompassing almost two-thirds of the state's students.

The court rejected Richard Nixon's appeal of a judge's ruling that his White House tapes may be screened for evidence in a civil damage suit involving anti-war demonstrators arrested at the Capitol in 1971.

But it appeared to put to an end government efforts to prosecute Frank DeMarco Jr., the lawyer who prepared Nixon's 1969 tax return, on charges of conspiring to defraud the United States.

average life span than men, to make larger pension fund contributions.

They also accepted for review cases involving:

—A judge's ruling that police armed with a warrant acted unlawfully when they searched offices of the Stanford Daily in 1971 for photos of demonstrators.

—Whether authorities must obtain a warrant before re-entering a fire-damaged building to gather evidence of arson.

—Whether the organized bar may penalize a lawyer who recommends his own services to a prospective client.

—Challenges to a Maryland law which bars oil companies from operating their own retail service stations and requires them to sell gasoline to dealers at a uniform price.

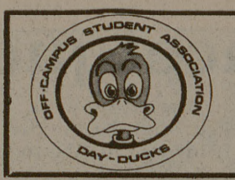

—Whether The Minnesota Pension Act, designed to protect workers when a plant is closed or a private pension plan is terminated, clashes with federal law.

The court upheld Tennessee's college student aid program, which goes to applicants attending both secular and church-related institutions.

Wildlife sciences fund provided for scholars

Texas A&M University's wildlife and fisheries science department will receive $64,000 for student scholarships.

The Caesar Kleburg Foundation recently established a $60,000 trust with the Texas A&M University Development Foundation for scholarships for students majoring in wildlife and fisheries sciences. The funds will be invested by the A&M development foundation.

Earnings from the trust fund will be used to set up eight $500 scholarships or as many as the investment yields. The remaining $4,000 will be used to award scholarships for the present semester.

Edith Arnold, Penny Bartnicki, Claire Bond, Barbara Bullinger, Calvin Meyer, Michael O'Neal, David Owens, and Lloyd Thomas are the first recipients of the new scholarship program.

Students applying for scholarships must be a citizen of the United States and be entering the department of wildlife and fisheries for the first time as first-semester freshmen.

Four of the scholarships may be renewed to students after the freshman year upon recommendation of the head of the department. Renewal will be based on continued scholarly performance, but no one student will be eligible for more than one renewal.

Recipients of scholarships will be selected by the scholarship committee of the College of Agriculture with some participation from the wildlife and fisheries department head. Selection of scholarship awards will be based primarily on scholarship achievement in high school, attainment of honors and awards through leadership, and participation in scholarly and extracurricular activities.

The court agreed to hear arguments later this term on a ruling that shook up the communications industry by requiring newspapers to give up ownership of broadcast stations operating in the same market.

At stake are 60 newspaper-television station cross-ownerships and many more combinations involving radio stations.

The justices also agreed to decide whether a judge who approved a mother's request to have her 15-year-old girl sterilized can be sued for damages by the daughter. The 7th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled in an Indiana case that the answer is yes.

In addition, the justices offered to rule this winter or next spring whether an employer may require women workers, who have a longer

Bestsellers at library soon

Popular bestsellers of fiction and non-fiction books become available in early October at the Texas A&M University Library through a new service.

Current high-interest titles will be available for two-week circulation, Dr. Irene Hoadley, director of libraries, said recently.

The new service provides a rotating collection of about 600 new titles each month which will be shelved in the first floor elevator lobby area of Sterling C. Evans Library, across from the main circulation desk. It can be available by title only through a separate, adjacent card catalog.

The collection will be provided by contract with Joseten's Book Lease Service.

ENGINEERING GRADUATES, WORK IN A PLACE WORTH WRITING HOME ABOUT.

In Saudi Arabia you'll be near the cradle of civilization.

You'll see awe-inspiring sights such as the carved cliff tombs of Madain Salih, created over 2,000 years ago some 600 kilometers north of Jiddah.

You'll have plenty of time to explore, too, because you'll have a 40-day paid vacation and 12 paid holidays each year.

You'll have money enough to travel in style. Your base salary will be competitive with what you can earn in the States. Plus, you'll receive a generous tax-protected expatriate premium.

That means your Saudi Arabian take-home pay will be approximately equal to your gross pay in the States.

In addition, you'll be close to the world's top vacation spots. Travel throughout the Middle East. Or fly to Rome, Paris and London. Or visit India to the east, Africa to the west.

We'll even fly you back to the States, free, while you're vacationing.

You'll be working for the world's largest oil producing company, and one of the fastest growing. Currently, we have over $20 billion worth of projects under way in Saudi Arabia, and advancement opportunities are exceptional.

We're looking for Mechanical, Geological, Chemical, Electrical, and Petroleum Engineers with bachelor's, master's, or Ph.D. degrees. If you're graduating this fall, spring, or summer, we'd like to talk to you.

Additional information is available now in your career planning office.
