Officials blame arsonist in fire

United Press International
BATON ROUGE, La. — A fire that destroyed a classroom wing Sunday at University High School on the Louisiana State University campus may have been set, officials said.

The fire, which began in the early morning, destroyed seven classrooms in a one-story wing where first-grade through sixth-grade classes are held.

School officials said students in grades one through six would have the day off Monday but junior high school and high school students would report for normal classes.

Citizen band repair easier if you shop

Shop around for CB repairs, advises Claudia Kerbel, consumer information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. "Be sure to find a LICENSED repairer, because compliance with government rules is YOUR responsibility," says Kerbel.
The Federal Communications Commission requires that anyone making adjustments on a CB transmitter must hold or be under direct supervision of someone holding at least a second-class radio/telephone operator's license. Others may be more apt to misadjust the frequency and violate international radio agreements.
Common problems that CBers face are failure of the transmitter final output transistors, broken microphone wires, and failure of the audio output transistor.
But consumers can get satisfactory repairs, perhaps by the following methods:
1.) When you first use your write down meter readings — tuning or receiving — to become familiar with its "good operating characteristics."
2.) If the radio is under warranty, get factory or "authorized" adjustments — free and in terms of the warranty.
3.) Check the fuse, antenna connection, and microphone self — before you take it to a repair shop.
4.) Use a repair shop that offers a fixed rate for labor.
5.) Ask to see the license of the person responsible for your repairs.
6.) Ask that all replaced parts be returned to you.
7.) Ask for a signed statement that all repairs comply with regulations.
8.) If you have questions about your repair shop, check with the Better Business Bureau or Chamber of Commerce.
