Whether they're "shooting the bull" with their roommates, conversing with professors about low grades, or gossiping with friends at the Dixie Chicken, Texas A&M University students have proved they like to talk.

Since the beginning of the English department almost a hundred years ago, Speech Communication has been taught at Texas A&M. It is a humanistic and scienoral speech," said Dr. Josh Crane, 1,000 students in the fall," Crane associate professor in the English said. department. "A good public speaker should not only be able to give a variety of public speeches very well, but he should also know what he is pubile speech.'
