

NFL referees under fire again

DENVER (UPI) — NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle said Sunday he would talk with Pittsburgh Steelers defensive tackle Joe Greene next week before taking any action against referees.

"If I had something to say, it would not be until this coming week," said Rozelle, in Denver to watch the Steelers-Bronco game. "Whatever I do, I will talk with them next week."

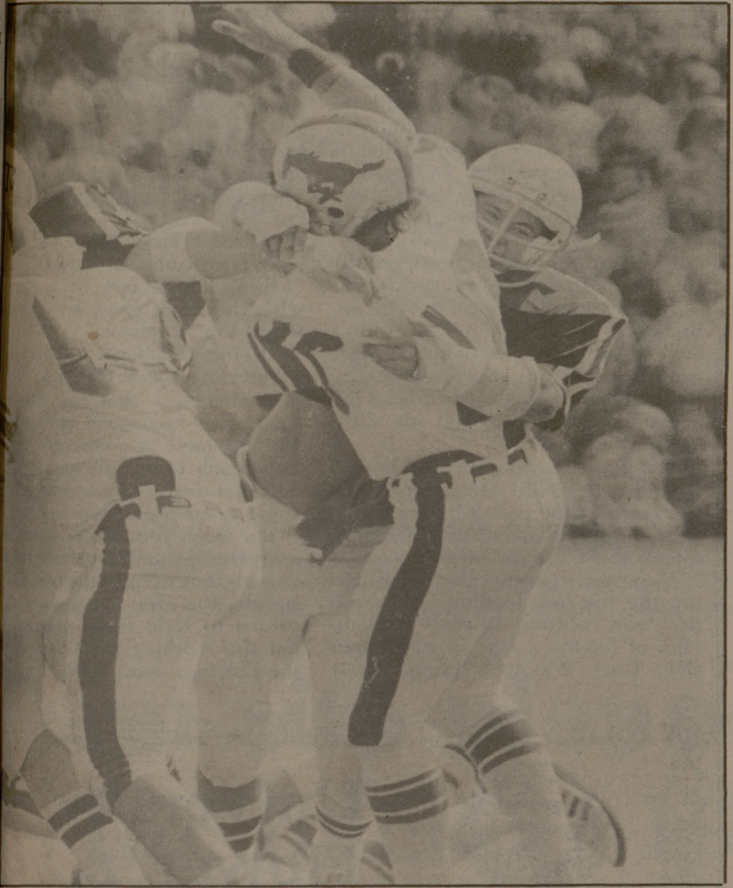

Greene was quoted last week as saying he would go after an official if given the chance. "I'm on a crusade against the striped shirts and I will not get out of the game," Greene said.

His comment followed the Steelers' 31-21 loss to Baltimore last week. Greene became irritated during the game when the referee mistakenly announced Greene's number on an offside call.

"Nick Skorich of our office went over the game films and it showed that he (Greene) was offside," Rozelle said. "In fact, the linemen are so close to the ball, they often end up offside."

In response to suggestions that electronic devices be used to settle disputes, Rozelle reaffirmed the league's opposition.

The commissioner also said that complaints against officials are not excessive this year.

AIR FORCE ROTC

The facts of the matter.

With something as important as your future being discussed, it's very urgent that you get and understand all the facts. Air Force ROTC can be an important part of your future, and we'd like to take this opportunity to outline some of the main facts of that matter and invite you to look further into the subject.

The U.S. Air Force needs highly qualified dedicated officers. Both men and women, and we need people in all kinds of educational disciplines. Air Force ROTC offers 4-year, 3-year and 2-year scholarships with $100 monthly tax-free allowance, and contrary to what some people think, there is no military obligation during the first two years of the Air Force ROTC.

Upon college graduation you'll receive a commission in the U.S. Air Force and the opportunity to compete for a challenging job with advanced educational opportunities.

Let's get together and discuss Air Force ROTC further. We'll give you all the facts and clear up the fictions. It could be one of the most important talks you've ever had with anyone.
