Bike storage available to students over break

Wind, rain and thieves can abuse a bicycle left outside during the holiday, but a method, short of stashing it in a bedroom, is available for bike care.

The Texas A&M University Student Government is offering to store bikes in the pistol range under Kyle Field for 25 cents. The bikes will be under lock, key and the watchful eyes of University Police.

Student Government workers will store bikes 5-7 p.m. Dec. 14 and 15 at the range. Bikes may be picked up Jan. 16, the first day of class.

Seniors in education selected for honors

Distinguished Honor Awards have been presented to eight graduating seniors at Texas A&M University's College of Education.

They are, in the Department of Educational Curriculum and Instruction, Belinda Acock of Corsicana; Andrew Byrd, Kress; Regina Carter, LaMarque; and Laura Tirado, Fletcher and Robin Tielke, College Station.

Honorees in the Health and Physical Education Department are John Johnson of Brenham; Gail Nelson, College Station, and Denise Prihoda, Bryan.

Awards were presented by Education Dean Frank W.R. Hubert.

A&M cadets receive prestigious award

The Legion of Valor Society's Bronze Cross for Achievement was presented Thursday to Texas A&M University cadets Mike Gentry of Huntsville and Ken Donnelly of Garland.

The prestigious award, one of the highest to ROTC cadets, was given by Charles W. Rush of Troup, Legion of Valor Society national commander.

Gentry, Corps of Cadets commander, and Donnelly, deputy commander, received the Crosses at the Corps' annual Christmas dinner.

The award cites demonstrated academic and leadership excellence. It is made annually on a select basis by the Society composed of winners of the Medal of Honor, the Navy Cross, Air Force Cross or Army Distinguished Service Cross.

One award per 1,000 cadets is authorized. Texas A&M cadets have been Society Bronze Cross honorees annually since 1972. Recent recipients are John Riddles of Pearland, Jon Bullock of Houston, Steve Eberhard of New Braunfels and Thomas Odum of Port Neches.

Both 1977 society honorees are Distinguished Students in Business management. Donnelly is a Distinguished Naval Student and ranks first in a 67-member NROTC class. He commanded the Fish Drill Team, was sophomore class president, graduated fourth in a Naval Science Institute Class of 283 at Newport, R.I., and is a member of the Ross Volunteers. He is on Navy scholarship.

A four-year Army scholarship student, Gentry chose Texas A&M over appointments to all of the service academies. Gentry, a Distinguished Military Student, also has broad student activities service, including concessions, Who's Who selection and Ad-Hoc Traffic committees. He is a member of Phi Eta Sigma and the Ross Volunteers, an elite honor military unit and the oldest collegiate student organization in Texas.

Engineering faculty honors top seniors

Texas A&M University's top graduating engineering seniors, Russell Bistline of Beaumont and John Riddles of Pearland, were honored Wednesday by College of Engineering faculty.

Bistline and Riddles were presented Engineering Senior Achievement Awards at a faculty meeting. Dean Fred J. Benson made the presentations.

Along with individual plaques, the honorees' names will be added to a bronze plaque in the entry hall of the Zachry Engineering Center.

The awards, made twice yearly, go to recipients chosen by a faculty committee seating members from each engineering department. Scholarship is the prime criterion, but participation in campus activities, student technical activities and leadership and financial responsibility are also considered.

Riddles and Bistline have overall 3.9 grade point ratios, in industrial and electrical engineering, respectively.

Riddles, a President's Scholar at Texas A&M, will be commissioned in the U.S. Army on graduation Saturday. He has a two year commitment with the army and firm job offers from Exxon and Amoco Oil companies.

He was the 1976 A&M recipient of the Legion of Valor Society's Bronze Cross for Achievement. Riddles completed four years in the Cadet Corps last spring as corps information officer.

He is member of several honor societies, including Phi Kappa Phi and Tau Beta Pi. Riddles has also served on the Memorial Student Center Council, as class secretary and Town Hall chairman while earning all of his college expenses as a nonstudent assembly line worker and teaching assistant, among other jobs.

Bistline has similar extracurricular credentials and is placed second in his 145-member engineering class.

Along with other honors and activities, he was Phi Kappa Phi outstanding junior, Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers treasurer, member of the Electrical Engineering Student Council, an approved Amateur Softball Association umpire and member of the Davis-Gary Hall judicial board.

Bistline, a National Merit Scholar, also received aid from the Texas Society of Petroleum Engineers and had summer work as a service station attendant and truck driver. He has accepted employment with IBM in Austin.

If you are being commissioned
You may want to join the Bank of A&M's World-Wide program.

When you go on active duty, your banking requirements will change dramatically. You're going to move around the world. Your need for credit and for cash will be quite different from your classmates who return to their hometown to work and live. And the penalties for record keeping errors are more severe for military officers than most (if not all) other professions.

The World-Wide Department of the Bank of A&M was conceived to meet the needs of A&M officers on active duty. The department is staffed by Aggies with first hand experience of TDY, overseas movement, car financing in a foreign city, check-cashing problems at a military installation, allotments, telephone transfers, etc.

The World-Wide program includes all the features of the so-called "military banks": direct paycheck deposit, telephone loan service, write your own loan program, overseas car financing, automatic transfers from checking to savings (and visa versa), credit cards, overdraft protection . . . plus personal service by senior bank officers with career military experience and Aggie know-how.

Visit the Bank of A&M today (or some day of convenience) before your commissioning date to learn how the Bank of A&M's World-Wide Department can be of service to you.
