LSU chief to speak at industry meeting

Dr. Paul Murrill, Louisiana State University chancellor, is keynote speaker for the 33rd annual Symposium on Instrumentation for the Process Industries, starting Wednesday at Texas A&M University.

Other speakers from Texaco, DuPont, Conoco, Mobil, Fluor Engineers, Beckman Instruments, Tex-A-Martin, Combustion Engineers, Fischer & Porter and Ford, Bacon & Davis are part of one of the oldest and largest such programs in the U. S.

About 50 commercial exhibits will be on display in Rudder Exhibit Hall adjacent to Rudder Tower, meeting headquarters.

"The conference is primarily concerned with instrumentation applied by continuous fluid flow process industries such as petroleum refineries, chemical plants, natural gas and cycling plants," said director Dr. R. G. Anthony.

"However, many of the principles and equipment involved are common to nearly all types of present-day industry."

Numerous technical paper presentations will round out the affair Friday.

The conference is hosted by Texas A&M's Chemical Engineering Department.

Abandoned bikes to be auctioned

Fifty to sixty abandoned bicycles, collected on the Texas A&M campus by the University Police, will be auctioned at 10 a.m. Saturday, Jan. 21 at The Grove.

The sale is coordinated by the A&M Wheelmen, an organization of bicycling enthusiasts, and proceeds will go to the A&M Student Programs Office. A similar auction this past summer brought in more than $700 to the office.

Kim Strickland, Wheelman president, said the auction is open to the public.

All types of bikes - single to 10-speeds - will be available.

Wanted: Aggies for Intramural Competition

All you old and new Aggies, men or women, who are currently students, faculty, staff or spouses are wanted by the TAMU Intramural Office. We have an offer "you can't refuse."

This semester we have "rounded up" 20 separate sports activities offering a variety of competitive skill options. In most sports, men's, women's, and co-recreational competition is provided. Divisions of play include men's dorm, women's dorm, corps, fish, and independent. Such a variety of sports, skill options, and divisions should provide a place for every Aggie in our program.

You who are "on-the-run" with little free time may prefer special events, such as frisbee or free throw. These events usually take place on one evening for several hours. Individuals who feel "fenced-in" so often, may like our single elimination tournaments in racquetball or table tennis. Doubles may enjoy the tennis doubles or horseshoe doubles offered this semester. You and your gang might try basketball, flickerball, and other team competition.

Flyers providing entry dates, event times, and other important information are posted around campus and by Hassel Free in many apartment complexes. Each Monday this McDonald's Intramural advertisement will provide more current information. If you miss both these sources, call us at 845-7826.

To sign up for an activity, drop by the Intramural Office and fill out an entry blank or check with your dorm or corps athletic manager. When you enter, make sure you check all important dates so you don't miss a meeting or your first game. Also, pick up a copy of the rules to your event.

So, get out of your rooms and into the world of Intramural sports. "Doing time" in Intramurals may be the best time you ever spent. Remember, in the eyes of the Intramural staff everyone of you is a "wanted" person; wanted for fun and participation.

Latent Sports Writers Sought

Last semester we started a new type of feature article. Individuals from various Aggie teams put the successes of their teammates in black and white. For their efforts they received five BOG (Be Our Guest) cards which can be redeemed for free food at your local McDonald's Restaurants. They may not have become stars overnight but friends and family were able to read about individual and team efforts in intramural sports.

Take advantage of your opportunity to put the efforts of you and your friends in the weekly McDonald's page. It doesn't have to be a final playoff match to be good news. Make time to write up a clear description of the event and submit it to Pat Keller in the Intramural Office, DeWare Fieldhouse. You'll be glad you did.

Competition Free Throw Contest

All eligible students, faculty, and staff may compete in the free throw contest to be held Monday, February 13. Any participant may enter individual and team competition in men's, women's, or co-rec divisions.

Individual competition consists of shooting 20 free throws. The individual who makes the highest number of the 20 free throws will be the individual winner. The team competition consists of three persons. Each member shoots 20 throws. The team that scores the highest percentage of 60 free throws will be the team champ.

January 24. Competition will be held on the main floor of C. Rollie White gymnasium, from 7:00 p.m. through 10:00 p.m.

BASKETBALL BEGINS
All team captains should be on the alert. Intramural basketball games begin tomorrow night, Tuesday, January 17, so look up your schedules to double check your game dates. Games will be taking place Monday through Thursday evenings and some weekends. Some games are scheduled for late hours to allow all 552 teams to play in round robin leagues before playoffs are scheduled.

The officials who step on the courts will have experienced hours of training to provide the best officiating we can for your games.

Good luck and have a good season!

"I SPY" LURKING
Keep your eyes open for the "I Spy" camera. It might be pointed at you; and if it does, you could be very lucky. Each week a "participant of the week" is selected from the Intramural photos, an individual is circled and becomes eligible for a BOG (Be Our Guest) McDonald's card. This BOG card may be redeemed for free food at your local McDonald's Restaurants. Watch the McDonald's Intramural page to see if you or your friends are caught by the "I Spy" camera.

Meetings, Meetings!

Did you forget the time, date or location of some Intramural meetings last semester? Watch this Sports Shorts portion of the McDonald's Intramural Highlights for upcoming meeting information.

Ref's Corner

Basketball Referees: Check with the Intramural Office by Monday, January 16, to learn the time, date, and location of this week's basketball officials' meeting. Weekly meetings will occur throughout the basketball season.

Job Opportunities: Those interested in officiating flickerball and softball (slow or fast pitch) should report this week to James Welford in the Intramural Office, DeWare Fieldhouse.
