Texas may gain 2 congressmen

United Press International
WASHINGTON — The Census Bureau reports a continuing migration of the American population, mostly south and westward, and says 13 states could gain or lose congressmen in the early 1980s if present trends continue.

Texas, which recorded one of the largest population increases, could possibly gain 2.
The report said the nation's population increased by about 13 million since 1970 to an estimated 216,332,000.

The 1980 census will be used as the basis for the congressional reapportionment that occurs every 10 years. Population shifts affected congressional delegations in several states after the 1970 census.

Paper bills cover streets

United Press International
STOCKHOLM, Sweden — Less than 20,000 people are left in Phnom Penh, Cambodia, and chickens and rabbits wander the streets of the city that once had a population of more than two million, said Scandinavian diplomats Monday.
Sweden's Ambassador to China,

Kai Bjork, said he saw large denomination paper bills strewn about the streets of Phnom Penh since money is no longer being used in Cambodia.
Bjork visited Cambodia with the Finnish and Danish ambassadors to Peking, Pentti Suomela and Kjeld Mortensen.
They said the city had no street markets or commerce, no theaters or movie houses and its only traffic consisted of buses, trucks and bicycles.

Young armed men guarded roads leading into the city as well as hotels and street corners.
Along the countryside, the population is organized in 500 to 600 family collectives. Bjork said the growing area was larger than on his visit 18 months ago. The standard living appeared normal for a developing country and the ambassadors said they saw no starvation
