'Rocky' and all that jazz

Maynard Ferguson: a hit

BY ANDY WILLIAMS

Someone told me Maynard Ferguson and his trumpet cracked on a note during his Town Hall special attraction concert Tuesday night. I didn't hear that one.

If the rest of the more than 2,000 people attending noticed, they technical expertise. He blew notes that seemed to last for minutes, notes so high they faded into whistles, and notes that followed such a rapid succession of other notes that it seemed impossible he was playing them live.

The unfortunate thing about a group with one large name is that other members of it tend to be ignored. Ferguson was ably supported.

Although playing in the trumpet section in Maynard Ferguson's orchestra must be as enviable a job as being a second-string running back with O. J. Simpson on the first-string, the group had an excellent crew of back-ups. Ron Tooley was especially impressive in his trumpet solos on Rimsky-Korsikov's "Scheherazade."

The audience was most impressed by Bob Militello's flute solo in one of the final numbers from the opera Pagliacci. Militello sang as much as he played the flute, and did both at the same time. This produced a sound rather like someone playing a comb and piece of plastic; the audience was at once amused and enthusiastic and Militello the outstanding ovation of the night given to a solo.

John Chiodini played a beautiful and difficult part of "Scheherazade" on the acoustic guitar. Unfortunately, the piece was played in competition with Ferguson, rather than in accompaniment. What was audible was flawless.

Keyboard player Biff Hamann was also worthy of note. His light fingered solos and accompaniment drew considerable audience attention.

didn't care. Ferguson and his 13-man orchestra got ovation after ovation, several with the audience standing. Naturally, Ferguson's hit "Gonna Fly Now," used in the movie "Rocky," got a good part of the applause.

Ferguson will be 50 years old this year, but you'd never guess that from his stage antics. Time after time after his solos he bounced back from the microphone and waved his arms wildly in a request for applause. He got it.

Ferguson made the most of his

Poisoned lake remodeled; sailing may be land-bound

By DANA GAKDINA

The renovation of the Bryan Municipal Lake, located at the corner of College Avenue and Villa Maria, will force the Texas A&M University Sailing Club to find an alternate lake for sailing.

The lake is being remodeled because arsenic tainted water seeped into it from Pennwalt Co. waste retention ponds, leaving contaminated sediments.

The two alternate lakes being considered by the sailing club are Lake Somerville and the Bryan Utility Lake on Sandy Point Road outside of Bryan.

Jerry Mainord, adviser for the sailing club, said there will be no place in the local community to teach sailing lessons for the two years Bryan Municipal Lake is being remodeled. The club teaches about 250 members a year to sail, he said.

The Bryan Municipal Lake is about 1.5 miles from Texas A&M, while Lake Somerville is approximately 25 miles, and the Bryan Utility Lake about 13 miles.

"The big problem is the expense," Mainord said. At the Bryan Utility Lake it costs $2 per car each day to get into the park, or $25 per car annually.

The lake has no facilities to store boats. Therefore, the club is faced with the expense of gas, and wear and tear on hauling their equipment to and from the lake.

Lake Somerville has slips (docking spots) for the sailing club's 22 boats, but the club can't afford to rent slips for that many boats. He said renting a slip costs $15 to $20.

At the Bryan Municipal Lake the sailing club built its own boathouse. The sailing club has to move the boathouse because its location is going to be razed. The sailing club hasn't found a place to put the boathouse.

The sailing club plans to start using an alternate lake around March 15.

"But teaching sailing will continue," Mainord said, "even if it goes dry."

Greg Schertz, racing team captain, said that the Bryan Municipal Lake was perfect for the sailing club because lots of people just use their bikes to Municipal Lake.

The club couldn't keep going if it doesn't teach lessons, said Schertz.

Mainord said that the Bryan Municipal Lake will be safer and much nicer after the renovation. "Right now the water is shallow and unusable," Mainord said. "The whole problem is where will we go for two years to teach lessons?"

Brazos Valley Joggers Club sets 13-mile marathon

The Fourth Annual Aggie Half Marathon is set for 3 p.m. this Sunday.

Brazos Valley Jogger's Club race director Ed Reyna said participants in the 13-mile run will meet in the church parking lot at the intersection of the Huntsville Highway 30 and FM 158. The course will be the same one used for the three previous half marathons sponsored by the club, he said.

Entry fees are 25 cents for members and 50 cents for non-members.

In the club's last outing, a 10-mile relay race, was won at Kyle Field by the team of Danny O'Shanahan, J.D. Bleyl with a winning time of 47:5. Rickey O'Higgins and Bob Bratton were second in 47:48. Rags Havers and Joey Heiss third in 48:15.

Six recently hired MBA's tell why you should spend 30 minutes with a Bank of America recruiter.

They give it to you straight.
"No vague promises, no snow jobs. You'll know exactly what positions are open, what's expected of you, what the bank will do for you—and what they won't. It's 30 minutes of give and take. And while you're learning about us, the recruiter is sizing you up. If he decides you're for us, one trip to one of our Bank of America units will produce a final decision in most cases. When the interview is over, you'll have a very good idea what you'll be doing over the next few months—and in the years to come."

The Bank offers a variety of career opportunities.
"In California, you'll start as a loan officer and head towards managing a community branch. You could be running your own profit center, and dealing directly with principals of business. Or you could enter the administrative area as a controller, or cashier. There are opportunities, as well, in our Leasing Department and other specialized areas. As a global banker, your first assignment in most cases will be in your home country; but after a time, you'll be involved in multinational transactions throughout the world."

They don't fill every nook and cranny with MBA's.
"Bank of America management knows that MBAs are valuable. That's why they choose us with care—profit comes out of international business. And domestically, we have a solid base of over one thousand branches throughout California."

Some of the best people in banking work here.
"When I see the quality of the people who work at Bank of America, it makes me proud to be a member of the team. The professionalism and competence here are simply outstanding. They're looking for people who can meet these high standards. If you want to work with some of the best people in banking, you owe it to yourself to talk to us."

Bank of America is actively seeking top-quality MBA's to fill a number of specific openings in California and around the world.
