

A sewer rat's view

Sewers are usually full of bugs and rats and that sort of thing, but this sewer has something different in it, a photographer. David Piccione seems to be looking at the photographer with amusement.

School spankings labeled child abuse; ban advocated

NEW YORK — Dr. Irvin A. Hyman, a Temple University psychology professor, said Tuesday the child abuse establishment should crusade against corporal punishment in the nation's schools.

accepted form of changing behavior when they are raising children is part of the child abuse picture," Hyman said at the conference attended by 2,000 child protection workers from across the nation. "If the child abuse establishment is interested in prevention, it will also fight smacking one's children as a socially acceptable parental right."

It was a year ago Wednesday that the U.S. Supreme Court ruled the cruel and unusual punishment clause of the Eighth Amendment did not apply to the use of corporal punishment on public school children.

Hyman said the Supreme Court's decision on corporal punishment in schools reinforces "a horrible habit in the child-raising arena — slapping and hitting."

Volunteers record high benefit $s

Undergraduate members of Epsilon Rho Chapter of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority of Texas A&M University worked as volunteers at the Jack Benny Memorial Tennis Classic at Walden on Lake Conroe April 8. The tennis tournament was a benefit for the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation and raised a record total of $252,000 for diabetes research.

Alpha Gamma Delta sorority was in charge of program sales. Alpha Gamma members Teresa Jayroe of San Antonio, Mary Robinson of Tulsa, Kathy Weir of Katy, Sue Bricker of Ohio, Lynn Bray of Bryan, Kay Thompson of Houston, Cinty McHatton of Victoria and Susan Mays of Houston earned $3,500 in program sales, all of which goes directly to diabetes research.
