U.S. protests appointment of Russian to U.N. post

United Press International

GENEVA, Switzerland — The United States has formally protested the appointment of a Soviet KGB intelligence colonel as personnel director at the United Nations' European headquarters.

Swiss authorities, in an unusual public statement, said they were "closely studying" a Soviet request to give diplomatic accreditation to Geli Dneprovsky, identified as a KGB colonel.

U.S. Ambassador William van den Heuvel has filed a protest against the appointment of Dneprovsky, who now is stationed at U.N. headquarters in New York.

Some time ago U.S. officials warned Swiss authorities that Dneprovsky was a KGB officer, Western sources said.

Swiss officials in the capital of Berne said U.N. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim will be asked about Soviet agents in top U.N. jobs when he pays an official visit to the Swiss government today and Friday.

Although this is strictly a U.N. matter and Waldheim has little power to block top appointments, officials said, Switzerland dislikes the publicity.

"There never has been any secret about Russian intelligence activities in Geneva," one official said. "But although the U.N. has extra-territorial rights, it is after all on Swiss soil."

What worries both Western officials is that many of them nationals, most of them be spies, hold influential

They have access to personnel files which could blackmail opportunities and in cases even control security the United Nations and specialized agencies.

Of some 300 Soviet nationals Geneva, between 100 and believed to be spies.

Key U.N. jobs are given quota basis, with members receiving a certain number positions. Governments submit short list of candidates by United Nations has to choose them.

Waldheim is being criticized however, for approving appointments even when there reasons to believe that are in reality secret agents.

Communist station praises Fourth of July

United Press International

BANGKOK, Thailand — A clandestine Thai Communist radio station had words of praise America on the Fourth of July sort of.

"The American people's struggle for independence and democracy stands as a fine tradition and aimed at providing a better society in which the people truly be masters of their own station intoned.

But, it said, "The democratic rights, which are claimed to come from elections, are mere tricks of the monopolist class. The real picture is that working laboring people in all sectors are living in abject poverty."

"Red Indians" are persecuted, massacred while "black people enslaved and can be bought and like buffaloes and bulls," the said.

"Only a few capitalist weapons dealers are enjoying prosperity," it said.

The Communist radio station, however, saw hope because the American people have risen in violent and all-out struggle against the ruling class."

That struggle, it said, "is a current that cannot be obstructed."
