

Tale of two tackles

Battalion photo by Pat Edmondson

Texas A&M's defensive tackles, Johnnie Donahue (standing) and Eugene Sanders, spent much of their summer preparing for the upcoming football season. For Donahue and Sanders, as well as most other team members, weight-lifting was part of the off-season conditioning program.

Second session intramurals over

Stiff competition and generally good sportsmanship made victory very sweet for those who played their way to the top of the second summer session intramural championships. Matches and games were often close with players sometimes coming from behind to win.

Slowpitch softball had its share of close games. The Pabst Amazings claimed their second summer championship after seesaw scoring that ended with a score of 12-10. Other cliffhangers occurred when WB (men's C), Mosher (women's), The Dirty Birds (co-rec B), and the Outlaws (co-rec C) all scored later in their games to win their perspective divisions.

The Icemen returned to a second summer championship in men's A three-man basketball by only two points. Pepper glided to the women's championship spot with an easy 30-16 victory.

Participants in three-man volleyball saw some close scores but only two matches went three games. Dig It won the first game in men's A division but lost two more games to give the championship to the returning Duros. The Duros, because of their woman player were also able to win the co-rec A division. The Elephants breathed hard when they lost their second game to the Fender Benders, however won the third game to be the co-rec B champs.

Individual and dual sports offered excitement with several tense moments and tight spots.

Men's A golf doubles was won in a tie breaker with Slim Donics and Darrell Knight as the second summer session champs, John Bigley defeated Billy Waddell in a long men's B racquetball match, final score 21-20, 21-20. In tennis doubles several teams elected to play extra sets. The closest match was in men's C with Carl Elving and Robert Seibert winning over Richard Rosinski and Mark Eidison, 7-5, 7-5.

Intramural winners during the second summer session include the following:

Golf doubles: Slim Donics and Darrell Knight, men's A; John Blackstone and Bruce Feiring, men's B.

Hanball doubles: Jeff Bronson and Mike Werner, men's.

Racquetball singles: Tom Meinecke, men's A; John Bigley, men's B; Lyle Mirsky, men's C; Jan DeWitt, women's.

Softball: Pabst Amazings, men's

A; Lone Stars, men's B; WB, men's C; Mosher, women's; Dirty Birds, co-rec A; Dirty Birds, co-rec B; Outlaws, co-rec C.

Tennis doubles: Kurt Zeller and Lance Templeton, men's A; Mike Deslatte and Ted Landry, men's B; Carl Elving and Robert Seibert, men's C; Jean Tarlton and Robert Stricklin, women's; Mike Peery and Beatriz Castro, co-rec AB; Mike O'Neal and Diane McCrady, co-rec C.

Three-man basketball: Icemen, men's A; Freeway, men's B; per, women's.

Three-man volleyball: Duros, men's A; Lone Stars, men's B; Duros, women's; Duros, co-rec C; Elephants, co-rec B.

The excitement never ends in intramural sports program. Stay in the intramural office in Delta Fieldhouse and get information on fall intramural activities.

Butler gets booted

DALLAS — Dallas Cowboys coach Tom Landry mistakenly let it slip Tuesday that he had waived kicker Skip Butler, leaving rookie Jay Sherrill as the only place kicker with the club.

Landry said the rest of the Cowboys roster moves designed to reduce the team to 50 players would not be announced until today.

Veteran place kicker Efen Herrera failed to come to terms with Dallas this season and was traded earlier this month to Seattle. That left Butler and Sherrill to fight for the position.

Landry was asked about the kicking situation at a news conference Tuesday and he said:

"We've chosen Sherrill over Butler for right now."

"Does that mean Butler is gone?" Landry was asked.

"Yeah, he's gone," Landry said.

Sherrill, a free agent from North Carolina State, tried four field goals in Dallas' exhibition loss to Houston last Saturday night and made two of them.
