

Kim calls for parley

Unified Korea urged

United Press International
TOKYO — North Korean President Kim Il Sung appealed to Washington and Seoul to join in talks on reuniting the two Koreas.

In a speech marking his country's 30th anniversary, Kim called on the United States and South Korea to agree to tripartite talks aimed at reunification.

Kim indicated that the two Koreans could continue maintenance of separate political systems under reunification, according to the official North Korean News Agency, which reported his remarks.

"We leave the door open for a conversation with the United States and with the South Korean authorities and political parties, too," Kim told a rally attended by visiting Chinese, Soviet and other Communist dignitaries.

"We will not impose our socialist system and Communist ideology on South Korea," he added. "We are ready to promote unity with any political party in South Korea according to the idea of great national unity."

Kim's call was neither new nor calculated to draw a favorable response from South Korea, which has rejected the idea of reunification with its Communist neighbor in the past.

Kim for his part rejected a South Korean proposal for an economic cooperation pact with the north as "a clumsy trick by the separatists to camouflage their true colors."

University Women honored

Gov. Dolph Briscoe has proclaimed the week of Sept. 10-16 as A.A.U.W. week in recognition of the continuing contribution of American Association of University Women to the state of Texas. The Bryan-College Station branch was chartered in 1948 and has approximately 100 members.

The national organization of A.A.U.W. was founded in 1882 and is open to all women who hold the baccalaureate or a higher degree from a college or university. Membership in the organization enables women to continue their intellectual growth, to further their advancement of women and to encourage their responsibilities to society.

A branch meeting will be held Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the University Lutheran Student Center, 315 College Main North, College Station. The topic will be on Women and the African Scene. Those interested in joining A.A.U.W. may contact Barbara Moyers at 846-5130.

They came with the rain

Mushrooms germinated by weekend rains dotted the lawn in front of the University System Building Sunday morning.

Vatican newspaper blasts death penalty for Texan

United Press International
VATICAN CITY — The Vatican official newspaper L'Osservatore Romano Thursday condemned a decision to execute a Texas woman by an injection of pentothal instead of electrocution, saying that any form of death penalty was wrong.

A front page article by theologian Gino Concetti referred to the decision to substitute the fatal injection for the electric chair for Mary Lou Anderson.

Concetti wrote, "We are radically opposed to this, not so much because of the method that may ap-
