At Monday's hearing, the committee entered as evidence the text of an interview British free lance jour-nalist Comer Clark is said to have had with Castro, published in the National Enquirer in 1967.

Castro was quoted as saying: Yes, I heard of Lee Harvey Os-plan would be put into effect."

Clark said Castro told him that when Oswald went to the Cuban Consulate in Mexico City in 1963 he offered to work for Cuba and "then said something like: 'Someone ought to shoot that President Kennedy Maybe I'll try it'.

The committee said Clark died in 1972 but an investigation into his background and reputation for veracity showed "it was not good."
