Asphalt scholarships go to three at A&M
W. Vernon Wright Petroleum Asphalt Scholarships have been awarded to three Texas A&M University students.
Recipients are Carolyn Y. Jacobs and Michael W. Lehman of Corpus Christi and Robert G. McGinnis of Bay City.
The awards of $500 each are made possible by contributions of Vernon and Mary Francis Wright of Dallas. He is president of the Wright Petroleum Asphalt

Allenhof nominee for science grant
Russell Altenhof, a 4-H member with an outstanding record in crop and livestock production, has been named the Texas nominee for the 4-H Animal Science Scholarship.
His record book will be entered in national competition for one of two $1,000 scholarships provided by Allied Mills, Inc.
Altenhof, 20, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Altenhof of New Braunfels. He is a junior at Texas A&M University majoring in animal science.
He has had many outstanding accomplishments during his 4-H career, including being named a national winner in the 4-H Beef Program, being on the first place livestock judging team at State 4-H Roundup, receiving the State Fair of Texas Honor Award, and being recognized at the Rural Youth Honor Banquet at the San Antonio Livestock Show.
He has attended the National 4-H Citizenship Shortcourse and Heritage Tour, Texas 4-H Ecology and Texas 4-H Range Camp.
At Texas A&M he has been on the national champion wool judging team, the meats judging team and is active in Alpha Zeta and the Collegiate 4-H Club.

Freshman wins trip to national congress
State 4-H officials with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service announced that Laura Walker will receive an expense-paid trip to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Nov. 26-30, by virtue of her outstanding record book. The record book will be entered in national competition for six educational scholarships for $1,000 each provided by the National 4-H Council.
A freshman at Texas A&M University, Walker, 18, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Walker of Shelby. The animal science major has been a member of 4-H for seven years, where she served in various club offices and committees. This year she was vice-president of the Shelby County 4-H Council.
Walker has won numerous awards during her 4-H career, including second in showmanship and 12th in halter at the State 4-H Horse Show this year. She won sixth in halter at the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo in 1976. Last year she was the third highest individual in horse judging at the State 4-H Roundup. She has also competed at the State 4-H Horse Show as a member of the State Champion Regular Drill Team and State Champion Precision Drill Team.
She was named Shelby County Gold Star Girl for 1975. She has been High Point County Horseman for two years.
This year she won a $6,000 Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo Scholarship and a $1,500 Go Texan Scholarship, also provided by the Houston Stock Show.
An honor student, Walker served as class secretary for four years and was vice-president of the National Honor Society. She received the DAR Citizenship Award this year and was a member of the annual staff two years.

Cyclotron institute headed by Youngblood
Dr. Dave H. Youngblood has been formally named director of the Cyclotron Institute by the Texas A&M University System Board of Regents.
Youngblood has served as acting director since January and institute director Dr. Thomas Sugihara was named dean of the institute.
The institute houses Southwest's largest cyclotron which is an instrument for research in nuclear science. Youngblood, a physics professor, has been a member of the Texas A&M faculty since 1967.

Aggie Meeks honored by engineering society
Texas A&M University senior Walter A. Meeks of Waco has been honored by the Society of American Military Engineers as the outstanding 1977-78 engineering student in the Naval ROTC program.
The national award consists of a certificate and gold medal. The award would normally have been presented last spring at Parents Day ceremonies.
The award cites Meeks' academic achievement in nuclear engineering.
Upon graduation next May, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Meeks Sr., of Waco, will be commissioned an ensign in the U.S. Navy. The Texas A&M cadet will then report for naval nuclear reactor training before assignment to a nuclear-powered ship.
