Judoica

Trivia Quiz: What is the only martial art at the Olympics? Which is the only martial art recognized as a sport by the Amateur Athletic Union? Answers: Judo. Now that you have some interesting facts for the next trivia contest you are in, the TAMU judo club invites you to come watch their practices and join their club. The judo club has been around for over 10 years and is currently ranked second in the state of Texas. The team is coached by three black-belt team members and consists of 20 active members, 2 of which are girls. Competition is men's and women's divisions by weight class. Most tournaments are individual entries for trophies, but the team also competes in the Pre-collegiate and Collegiate State Championship tournaments. Judo is a year round sport which is good conditioning for the body with less body contact than Karate. Inexperienced recruits may only join through the beginning of October. Interested persons may contact Kim Freeman at 845-3148 or come by a practice session, Mondays, Wednesdays, or Thursdays at 7:00 in Room 260 G.R.W.

It's New

Have you ever wished you could get in on the ground floor when a sport was just starting and grow with it? Now you have a chance. Women's field hockey is one of A&M's newest sport clubs having been organized in April, 1977. The team is always recruiting and invites men to come practice with them. Field hockey is similar in set-up to soccer. It is played with hockey sticks and is a fast moving game. It is played to a time limit; the winner being the team with the majority of points. Games consist of 25 minute halves. In its second year of play, the team is experiencing scheduling conflicts. They have played two games so far, tying 1-1 and losing 0-2. It is one of the few recognized University teams in its area, and is a fall sport. Interested persons can contact the IM Office for information.

Arm To Arm

It's the battle of the arms as contestants gear up for the annual IM arm wrestling tournament. Entries open today, Monday, October 2 and close Tuesday, October 10. This single elimination tournament includes men's and women's divisions. Entrants must know their weight when they sign the

Clothes Hinder!

Clothes hinder may just be a new call in racquetball or handball. The IM staff requests that individuals not leave their clothes or valuables where other people can pick them up and walk off with them. Many valuables are lost, mainly by leaving them on the ledges outside of the courts. Take clothes, wallets, etc. inside the court and, when they interfere, make a special hindrance call. Suggestions for your valuables are:

1. Leave them at home or in your car.
2. Sew an inside pocket into your sports clothes.
3. Pin your keys to your shorts.
4. Wear only what you wish to play in.

Come All You Young Sluggers

The home run hitting contest will be October 4th and 5th at the

Practice Field

To help keep our playing fields in top shape, please do not practice on wet fields. This does damage to grass and the surface. The campus police will ask you to leave, if you are found practicing on wet fields. Fields included are Penberthy IM Center, across the tracks on Welborn Road, and the fields in front of the campus along Main, Texas Avenue, and University Drive.

5. Carry as little as possible. The IM I.D. checker and IM Office is not responsible for lost items. Items turned into the office are kept throughout the day and then turned into the MSC main desk at the end of the day. Also, always check your I.D. to make sure you have the right one.

Equipment Use

The IM equipment is used by many people every day. Help us keep it in good condition by treating it carefully and reasonably. This gives more people use of it and can save you money. You are liable for damages to equipment.
