'How many gallons do you want to give?'

Andy Sloan, junior finance major, and Denise Crawford, sophomore education major, try to bleed Chuck Pace's wallet for the Aggie Blood Drive. Along with trying to get blood, they are selling mums. The residence hall that gives the most blood will win two kegs of beer. The booth is set up near Sbsa Dining Hall. Pace is a sophomore accounting major.

M.D./D.V.M. in European Medical & Veterinary Schools

The Institute of International Medical Education offers total medical education leading to practice in the U.S.

1. Direct admission into accredited medical schools in Italy and Spain.
2. Master of Science Degree in cooperation with recognized colleges and universities in the U.S. leading to advanced placement in Spanish, Italian or other foreign medical schools or veterinary medical schools.
3. While in attendance at the medical school, the Institute will provide a supplemental Basic Medical Sciences Curriculum which prepares students for transfer into an American medical school (COTRANS).
4. For those students who do not transfer, the Institute provides accredited supervised clinical clerkships at cooperating U.S. hospitals.
5. During the final year of foreign medical school the Institute provides a supplemental and comprehensive clinical medicine curriculum which prepares the student to take the ECFMG examination.
6. IF YOU ARE NOW—OR WILL BE—THE POSSESSOR OF AN M.S. OR PH.D. DEGREE IN THE SCIENCES, WE CAN OFFER YOU ADVANCED PLACEMENT IN A EUROPEAN MEDICAL SCHOOL.

The Institute has been responsible for processing more American students to foreign medical schools than any other organization.

Recent rains in Texas boost haymaking

United Press International
Fall hay making is underway in Texas due to recent rains that have boosted grass growth, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service reported today.

Farmers are trying to harvest as much hay as possible before cold weather sets in to help alleviate the shortage caused by the dry summer. Along with haymaking, corn, sorghum and cotton is being harvested in the plains, the service said in its weekly report. However, hot cloudless weather is needed to mature most cotton. Recent cool, wet weather has delayed cotton development in the High Plains and recent flooding in the Trans-Pecos area caused heavy damage to cotton and hay crops.

Small grain crops such as wheat and oats are progressing well with planting still active in many areas.

Elephant king dead at 50

United Press International
NAIROBI, Kenya — King Abdul

his reign lasted only two years and he died at the estimated age of 50, the biggest, the grandest, the designated "king" of Kenya's elephants.

Park rangers found the body of the massive elephant, whose tusks weighed 227 pounds, at the edge of the Marsabit game reserve, 100 miles north of Nairobi, this week.

They were able to identify him by size, a ring on the deformed end of his right tusk and a "missing link" from his tail.

Abdul received his name and title two years ago upon the death of an even bigger elephant who lived under a 24-hour guard by three of Kenya's late president, Jomo Kenyatta.

Rangers, escorted by armed guards, removed Abdul's huge tusks from the forest where he died and weighed and locked them in a safe.

Although ivory sales have been banned in Kenya, the tusks would fetch a small fortune to an illegal trader.
