Forestry seminar Tuesday

The Texas Urban Forestry Seminar will be held Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. in Room 302 Rudder Tower.

Topics to be discussed include urban forestry in Europe and America, pre-development urban forestry planning and inventory of the urban forest.

Dr. R. S. Dewers, professor of forest science, said many cities need an urban forester to take care of the street and park trees as well as privately owned trees. The city forester also keeps track of the species, number and condition of the city's trees.

Trees are important to a city not only for aesthetic reasons, but for environmental reasons as well, he said. Many cities are losing trees at an alarming rate, and College Station has lost a number of post oaks due to construction, Dewers said.

Admission to the seminar is free to anyone interested in urban forestry.

Have you thought about having phones where you never had phones before?
Come see for yourself

Even if you already have one or two extensions, there are sure to be one or two more places you can think of where a phone would really come in handy. Imagine the convenience of having a phone in the laundry room, the work room, the family room, or the garage. Just think of it — no more running to another part of the house to answer a call. And now there are as many different phone styles and colors as there are room styles. So come see them for yourself at the GTE Phone Mart. The GTE Phone Mart. It's a whole new way to see your phone company.
