KGB plot foiled

Officials say 'top secret' document forged

United Press International
WASHINGTON — American officials have described what they say is a worldwide Soviet KGB "disinformation" campaign designed to damage U.S. relations with its allies in Europe and the Far East with a forged document.

The KGB circulated a "Top Secret" U.S. Army document purporting to have been issued March 19, 1970, by Gen. William Westmoreland, then Army chief of staff, concerning "stability operations" in countries where U.S. Army units are stationed. The American officials say it was forged.

It professed to recommend infiltrating U.S. Army intelligence agents into the armed forces of host countries and also into insurgent forces and extreme radical groups.

The bogus document instructed Army intelligence to be prepared to launch special operations against host countries if that proved to be in the overall U.S. interest.

Covert Action Information Bulletin, an anti-establishment publication which has revealed the names of CIA agents using diplomatic cover abroad, published the "Top Secret Supplement B" to Army Field Manual 30-31 in its latest edition.

It claimed the document was authentic and had been published already in Turkish, Spanish, Italian, Dutch and North African newspapers and periodicals.

"A forgery," a Pentagon spokesman told United Press International Tuesday, while conceding that some parts were "sophisticated." A House Intelligence Committee spokesman said the panel is looking into the matter and is in contact with the Defense Department and the CIA concerning it. An intelligence source called the directive clearly a "disinformation product" of Soviet KGB intelligence.

From other officials it was learned U.S. authorities have been aware of the latest Soviet effort since September 1976 when a copy of the bogus memo showed up in Bangkok.

The document with a covering letter, these sources said, was addressed to President Ferdinand Marcos of the Philippines and placed in a glass-enclosed board outside the Philippine embassy. It never reached the "Supplement B" next to four months ago in the Spanish publication El Pais and the Triunfo allegedly as a report what had appeared in a newspaper.

The sources said the deception role was more prevalent than usual because the document was planted by a Communist who had close ties with a suspected KGB officer at the Soviet Embassy in Manila, Spaniard and the Russian identified by name.

'Moonies' programme for suicide

United Press International
NEW YORK — New magazine says followers of Sun Myung Moon have programmed to commit suicide in defiance of opposition to the just as did more than 900 of the People's Temple in town, Guyana.

The magazine quotes a member of Moon's United Church — followers of which are known as "Moonies" — saying Moon teaches his followers that death by their own hand is preferable to "deprogramming" life outside his church.

New West quotes former Virginia Mabry, 24, as she attended a lecture at the Moon in San Francisco in which lessons were given in where to cut with a razor event any member was by parents bent on deprogramming.

"The best thing would throw ourselves in front of programmer's car, because he'd be charged with murder," told New West. "Second thing on how much time we were told to slice either our jugular vein. The judge said, was quicker."

The magazine also quotes scripts from a publication "Master Speaks" — a collection of Moon's speeches.

In one of them, Moon tells followers: "Will you contemplate me at the moment of death? I'll be on earth every day, out there. So who would you die — me or you?"
