

Beer drinking lives!

(... or should we say, beer drinkers live)

Photos by Clay Cockrill

THIS HARDY GROUP, above right, seems to be enjoying itself, a joy which may be heightened by the addition of a particular bottle to the tableful. Above left, this can of beer is destined for quick consumption somewhere in this area, as are its companions, especially if everyone shows enthusiasm equal to the person's who is stocking up at left. Above, a long-neck stands guard over another spirited pool match; as the bottle empties and is replaced by another, the match becomes more spirited. The drinker at right shows one method of quenching his thirst — the chug-a-lug.

