

AS NIGHT APPROACHES in this cemetery off Leonard Road, the spirit (if there is one) that operates the eerie green light that supposedly can be seen here must be wondering if he will have any visitors to-night. No one knows what causes the light because when it comes on, everyone scatters.

Ghosts

at night, drives between the two largest trees and flashes his lights three times, a green light will appear. The source of the light remains a mystery, probably because no one has ever stayed in the cemetery long enough to find out.

Even the Texas A&M University campus has had its ghosts. One tale that died out some years ago, says a professor, was the story of a girl who committed suicide during finals. For semesters afterward, students could see her ghost sadly roaming the campus during finals week.

While most people will not admit they believe ghost stories, they will also not admit they are untrue. Either way, around finals time it wouldn't hurt to be on the lookout for a strange, sad-looking girl roaming the campus.
