Jupiter's lightning adds to chances of life there

United Press International
TUCSON, Ariz. — The Voyager 1 space probe discovered lightning in the complex atmosphere of Jupiter and is raising the remote possibility that simple forms of life might exist in the giant planet's atmosphere, a project scientist said Tuesday.

Dr. Bradford A. Smith, head of the planetary probe's imaging team, said at a news conference that the discovery of very strong "super bolts" of lightning in the Jovian atmosphere indicates a possibility of the formation of highly complex organic molecules that are precursors of life.

Smith, a University of Arizona astronomer, said for life to exist, there must be a steady, high concentration of these complex molecules. This appears highly unlikely in the swirling atmosphere of the planet, he said. The molecules are probably circulated into the lower atmosphere where the extremely high temperatures would destroy them, Smith said.

But if there are pockets of the atmosphere which escape the rapid circulation, the high concentration of organic molecules and the possibility of life could exist, he said.

Biochemists believe light could provide the energy needed to create the complex organic molecules leading to life.

Scientists have long speculated about the possibility of life in the atmosphere of Jupiter and believed that great electrical charges occurred there. Voyager 1 confirmed the presence of lightning, but more advanced missions will be required for life.

SENIOR RING ORDERING PROCEDURE FOR STUDENTS COMPLETING 92 HOURS AT THE END OF THE SPRING '79 SEMESTER

To be eligible to order the Texas A&M Senior Ring, an undergraduate student must have at least ninety-two (92) semester hours, with 30 hours at A&M and be in good standing with the university. To order at mid-semester using mid-semester grades to fulfill the above requirements, please note the following instructions:

1. Mid-semester orders will be taken only from March 20th until April 27, 1979.
2. Leave your name, major and I.D. number with the ring clerk, Heaton Building, prior to March 20th if possible, or at least one week in advance of ordering. This may not be done by phone.
3. Bring mid-semester grade reports along when ready to order to verify passing hours for the spring semester only.
4. Anyone having failed to leave their name in advance and fail to bring their mid-semester grade report along when ready to order will be asked to return later to allow time for records to be checked.
5. All rings must be paid for in full when the order is placed. Senior ring loans are available through Student Financial Aid in the YMCA building.

There will be only a 1-2 week difference in delivery time for those students ordering after final grades are posted during May.
