Chili teams to compete Saturday for olympic title

THE THIRD ANNUAL B-CS Jaycee chili olympics will be held Saturday at Fellowship Hall, 1-mile off Highway 6 East By-pass on Tabor Road exit. The cook-off will have beer can smashing, cow chip throwing, and seed splitting events as well as a parachutist, beer, and a live band. In the picture above, members of the "Aggie Chili" team use a voltage tester to sample the potency of their chili during last year's olympics. Sampling is one of the biggest attractions at the chili competition as shown in the picture on the right.

Oscar-winning films Monday

Two Academy Award-winning short films — a student-made story of a young man who clings to a fantasy cowboy world and an animated parable about the political climate of the 1960s — plus the story of a musical friendship that bridges generations, are featured on the tenth and last episode of "Academy Leaders" Monday, April 16 at 8 p.m.

The series is devoted to showing Oscar-winning and nominated short films. Here is a synopsis of the last episode:

—The Violin: A gentle fable about a wandering old musician, a young boy, and their shared love for music. Concert violinist Maurice Soloway appears as the itinerant fiddler and plays a score of his own composition. Canadian filmmaker George Pastis won an Academy nomin in 1974 for this live action short.

—Is It Always Right to be Right?: This film had its beginning in a 1969 Los Angeles Times editorial on the problems of communication between people on opposite sides of the political fence, which was written by Warren H. Schmidt, then assistant dean of the School of Business Administration at UCLA. The film is produced by Nick Bosustow, a second generation animator whose father created the character Mr. Magoo, and is narrated by Orson Welles. The film won the 1970 Academy Award for best animated short.

The "Academy Leaders" series was produced by KCET in Los Angeles for national airing on PBS.
