Oilmen can take the money and run: $17 billion before paying profit tax tax proposal.

United Press International
WASHINGTON — President Carter's plan to boost oil prices and then impose a profit-control tax would mean a $17 billion windfall for the industry before the tax takes effect, Energy Secretary James Schlesinger said Monday. Schlesinger testified before a House appropriations subcommit-tee looking at energy budgeting.

Carter's new energy policy, announced last week, calls for phasing out controls on domestic oil prices by late 1981 as a means of persuading people to conserve. He also proposed that Congress pass a windfall profits tax to prevent the industry from using all the increased revenues without restraints.

Schlesinger told the committee Carter would not have the profits tax take effect until controls are removed altogether on Sept. 30, 1981. He estimated that between now and then, oil companies would get $17 billion in revenues that the profits courted the 38 freshmen House tax would not touch.

Democrats Monday in behalf of his

The government will probably get somewhat more than half of that in corporate taxes and royalties, he said, 'I don't intend to lose this said, while a profits tax, if passed by one," Rep. Don Mica, D-Fla., told Congress, would probably capture another 20 percent.

He estimated that from the date controls end, oilmen will gather $15 billion to $16 billion per year in added revenues.

Until then, the $17 billion total extra money "will help arrest the decline (in production) in many of our older wells," Schlesinger said. He said many producers have been shutting down marginal wells because the price controls gave them too little money to make them worthwhile.

We are placing the incentive initially in just those areas in which we expect to get the best response," Schlesinger said.

Meanwhile, President Carter

Woman MP is post's only triathalon entry

United Press International
SAN ANTONIO — Spec. 4 Dorothy A. Crorack can pump 50 straight bullets from her .38-caliber pistol into a silhoutte target 35 meters away without a single miss. She runs at least two miles a day

If I can quote the president, he reporters later. "I would think the windfall profits (tax) has an excel-

and swims every chance she gets. In keeping with the larger role played by women in the military today, Crorack is the noncommissioned officer in charge of the Fifth Army's quadrangle mili-tary police detail at Fort Sam Hous-

When she is not patrolling the Army post with other MP's, Crorack may be found practicing her pistol shot, swimming, scuba diving, motorcycling, tennis, racquetball, pool, backpacking, canoeing, shooting targets with a bow and arrow, or traveling to the mountains for some snow skiing, the latter being her favorite sport.

The 28-year-old is Fort Sam Houston's only female entrant in the Army Forces Command triathalon competition.

Although this is her first time to enter the triathalon, featuring both men and women's divisions, Crorack's interest in sports may give her an advantage over some female contestants who will fire 15 rounds with a .22-caliber pistol, run one and one-half miles and swim 200

Last year Crorack was a swimming instructor who trained Fort Sam Houston lifeguards. She said she timed herself in the swimming event and posted a time 40 seconds ahead of last year's triathlon winner.

Crorack said her physical abilities were aided by the fact she is the only daughter of six children reared by parents who immigrated to the United States from Australia 30 years ago.
"With five brothers, I've had to do a lot of fending for myself," she

212 N. MAIN

urged Carter to jawbone oil company presidents.
"I felt he ought to lay it right on the line with these oil companies and tell them they are dealing with the whole future of this country and perhaps the future of the oil com-panies if they don't respond and nce chance."

Rep. Peter Peyser, D-N.Y., give us some guarantees of increased production," Peyser said.

Equus to open at Forum

"Equus," an intense p cal drama about a stable blinds six horses with a me opens Wednesday at 8 p.m first of eight performan Aggie Players. It will be production for the play school year.

The play will run night, nesday through Saturday, and next at Rudder Forum are on sale at the Memor Center box office and will sold at the door, beginni each night. Tickets cost $2 A&M University students the general public. Robert Wenck, director ter arts, said the product mature audiences, not for children. He said the pla with the stable boy's real the reasons he committe ings and his subsequent ps cal treatment.

While there was nudit original performances of the Wenck said, the Aggie Playe duction will not have nudes

Cast auditions were hel students were chosen. W about half of the students ter arts majors, while from various other backg cluding a pre-med major. I said, most of the player at the College of Liberal Arts.

At left, Chip Washabaugh n the young boy and Sid Cate Dr. Martin Dysart, his po

ANDREW COOK v.p. external affairs!

GOOD

CLEAN

FUN

the 'FLYING DUTCHMAN' will bring the 'WINDS of CHANGE'

Wade Isterson Student Body President

Sail the

Florida Keys

on "the

Unicorn"

May 20-27

round trip air fare from Houston

Sign up April 11

in Rm. 216 MSC

$100 deposit required for info call 845-1515

7 day instructional cruise

$435 includes:

meals

TRAVEL

PROBLEM PREGNANCY? Are you considering

offers

Student ID Discounts!

15% off of $50° or more

10% off of under $50°°

CASH PURCHASE ONLY

DOWNTOWN BRYAN

AGGIES!

Douglas
Jewelry

822-3119

Abortion? Confidential Free Counseling and Referrals

(512) 474-9930 In Austin (713) 524-0548 In Houston

> Texas Problem Pregnancy-A non-profit corporation

IF WE HAD A FEW MORE TO WORK WITH THIS ONE WOULDNITBE SO DAMNED IMPORTANT

REPS ON CAMPUS TODAY!!

INFORMATION BOOTH:

MEMORIAL STUDENT CENTER MALL Interviewing Seniors/Grads at the Career Planning and Placement Center, 10th floor Rudder Tower.

Peace Corps

A WORLD OF OPPORTUNITY

VISTA VOLUNTEERS IN SERVICE TO AMERICA

'Deer Hunter' tops Osca

United Press International

Jane Fonda and Jon Voight, lovers in the Vietnam War film "Coming Home," won the best actor and actress award in the 51st annual Oscar presentations. Another Vietnam War story, "The Deer Hunter," won

Now you know

The great philosopher Socrates was trained as a stonecutter but never worked at the trade, giving free lessons instead to young Athenians while his wife supported him and his three children.

The expression "Don't give up the ship" was not said by John Paul Jones but by Capt. James Lawrence aboard the U.S. frigate "Chesapeake" on June 1, 1813. His exact words were: "Tell the men to fire faster and not to give up the ship; fight her till she sinks."

No U.S. coin shows its denomin tion in numbers.

the best picture of the year At the same time Mond outside the Los Angele Music Center, 14 demo protesting the nomination Deer Hunter" for its allege nature were arrested sho the ceremony began. The the second for Miss Fonda, her first in 1971 for "Klute nominated in 1969 for " Cowboy," took home his f Deer Hunter" led all other five awards, including bes for Michael Cimino.

Maggie Smith won as porting actress for playing a who loses an Oscar in Suite," and newcomer Ch Walken won the award for porting actor as a selfdest shell-shocked Vietnam War While dramatic pictures sw awards, the real dramawas by two veterans of Hollywo tures who received standing from the star-filled audien

John Wayne and Sir Le Olivier, both former Oscarv gave eloquent speeches of the the academy and their fellow

MSC BOOKSTORE OUT-OF-BUSINESS?

Senate Bill 1179 may force the MSC Bookstore out of business.

A POLL WILL BE TAKEN APRIL 11 & 12 IN THE MSC PLEASE EXPRESS YOUR OPINION.

GTE

DO YOU LIKE YOUR PHONE SERVICE?

COME TO A FORUM AND VOICE YOUR OPINION

> APRIL 11 4:00 P.M. 601 RUDDER

FOR BOTH ON & OFF CAMPUS STUDENTS.

Accommendation of the second