When owner smokes, pets often suffer

United Press International
WASHINGTON — To find out how badly you've been hit by inflation, take this test, worked out by the American Council of Life Insurance: Look up your 1967 tax return. Write down your income after deducting your income taxes and social security taxes for that year. Do the same thing with your 1978 return. Unless your 1978 figure is double the 1967 one, you have flunked the inflation test and your real income has decreased since 1967.
