

Woodard on the 'weigh' back Pirates' Parker MVP

National stars win again, 7-6

Big George Woodard does not have his starting job back but he will be issued a Texas A&M uniform in a month because he has dieted to a comfortable — for him — 250 pounds.

The fullback, who rushed for 2,864 yards in three seasons, returns after a year's layoff when pre-season drills begin next month. He missed the 1978 season because of a broken leg and an eating problem.

Woodard ballooned to 300 pounds last spring as he tried to recuperate from the injury and was unable to perform. So this spring, Aggie head coach Tom Wilson talked with the athlete about his future and his

and he took the challenge," Wilson said. Strength coach Mike Flynn said a 500-calorie-per-day diet and a distance-running program trimmed up the athlete. Woodard, who has weighed less than 250 during his diet, can now eat 1,500 calories per day.

Wilson was careful not to be too optimistic about Woodard's return. "George does have medical clearance but we still don't know if he'll have that quick start or how the leg will hold up when it's hit for the first time," the coach said.

United Press International
SEATTLE — Lee Mazzilli of the New York Mets, the brightest new star in the National League's galaxy, tied the score with a pinch-hit homer in the eighth inning and drew a bases-loaded walk off reliever Ron Guidry in the ninth inning Tuesday night to give the National League a 7-6 victory over the American League for their eighth consecutive triumph in the All-Star game.

Mazzilli, named to the All-Star team for the first time, batted for Atlanta's Gary Matthews in the eighth inning and homered into the lower deck in left field off Texas relief ace Jim Kern to tie the score 6-6. He then came through with his clutch walk with two out in the ninth after Kern loaded the bases on a walk to Joe Morgan, a balk, an intentional walk to Dave Parker and another walk to Ron Cey.

It was rather ironic that a walk should decide the contest as baseball's finest bounced balls around the Kingdome as if it were a giant pinball machine. The two sides each collected 10 hits and there were nine extra base hits in the contest, including six doubles. The game was the longest nine-inning contest in All-Star history, taking three hours and 11 minutes and there were enough outstanding plays to send the capacity 58,905 — fifth largest in all time — home happy despite the AL lost for the 16th time in the last 18 games.

While Mazzilli won the game for the NL, it was Pittsburgh's Parker, perhaps the brightest NL star, who emerged as the game's Most Valuable Player. He didn't do much with the bat, hitting only a sacrifice fly in the eighth and an infield hit in the seventh, but his howitzer saved the game for the NL. Parker brought the fans from their standing positions.

Parker lost a fly ball off Boston's Jim Rice in the seventh inning. But he came back with a perfect one-hop throw to stretch the hit into the eighth. Parker saved his best play in the eighth inning. He was on first and second and New York's Craig Nettles, what appeared to be a single to right field. Parker's ball on one hop and a bullet throw on the fly to Gary Carter, nailing California's Brian Downing at the plate, attempted to score from base.

A&M tennis to get a H

Texas A&M Athletic Director Marvin Tate has announced that Hollis Ann Hands has been named assistant tennis coach for the effective beginning Sept. 1. Hands, 23, will assist A&M tennis coach David Kent in men's and women's programs. Hands attended Amarillo Junior High School and Amarillo Junior College where she was selected MVP in American Junior College tennis competition.

Hands was graduated from the University of Texas in 1978 with a degree in Education. She is a teaching graduate school student. "We are very pleased to have her join our coaching staff," Don, A&M Assistant Athletic Director for Women. "She will be an assistant for David Kent and her tremendous help to both men's and women's tennis teams."

"We're proud to have A&M," added Tate. "She has a new dimension to our program and we feel fortunate her begin her coaching career."

Hands has served as an advisor and counselor for several clinics and tournaments and umpire for the Texas AAA championships in 1978. "Hollis is someone who has in and get a job done," said Don. "She has been associated with tennis for over past six years and has a background in the sport. She is an honor student and will be heavily to many phases of our program."
