Accusations investigated

United Press International
DALLAS — Authorities are investigating accusations that a former city councilman, representing a cable television firm trying to obtain a Dallas franchise, offered bribes to a city official.
City Attorney Lee Holt and the Police Department Tuesday said they were checking reports that City Councilman L.A. Murr and council candidate Larry Davis were offered business deals involving a communication company.

Davis allegedly was approached with an offer to obtain stock in the company and Murr was offered a proposal involving the cable company that would benefit his electric business.

200 events planned for pro-abortion week

United Press International
Supporters of legalized abortion Monday will begin a week of activities around the country that they hope will convince politicians most Americans endorse abortions on demand.

Abortion Rights Action Week, said spokesman Betty Rothbart in New York City, is "designed to be a sign of our grass-roots strength throughout the country."

The week, which is scheduled to feature more than 200 different events in cities around the nation, is designed to counter the publicity and political victories right-to-life groups have been garnering in recent years.

"In court cases, those who are pro-choice have consistently won," said Rothbart. "Because their record is so bad, the right-to-lifers are turning to the legislature. But we're not going to give up the gains we've won."

The intensity of the right-to-life movement's lobbying has thrown fear into politicians who describe the anti-abortion people as "single issue" voters who will oppose or support a candidate solely because of his or her position on the abortion issue.

Many politicians do not believe pro-abortioners hold their positions with the same intensity as right-to-lifers.

"Although most Americans support the Supreme Court decision that abortion is a constitutional protected right of all women, we find that reproductive rights and particularly the right to safe abortion are still under constant attack," said Frances Kissling, national coordinator for the pro-abortion convention to prohibit abortions.

Fifteen state legislatures have passed a call for a constitutional convention to prohibit abortions in recent years, local ordinances to prohibit abortions have been passed in several cities.

Abortion Rights Week, intended to counter that, will feature rallies, vigils, information booths and other events aimed at demonstrating the size of the pro-abortion movement.

In New York City, supporters will hold a raising program of disco lessons and dancing on the eve of the week, followed by a candlelight vigil in front of St. Patrick's Cathedral, led by pro-abortion clergymen.

San Francisco will be the site of a "torch" reproductive rights" and San Jose will host an Abortion Rights Festival.

Officials seek flood control

Drainage district proposed

United Press International
HOUSTON — Two state lawmakers Wednesday proposed creation of a regional flood control district for the Houston-Galveston area, hampered by drainage problems that contributed to three multimillion floods this year.

Rep. Bill Caraway and Sen. Gene Jones, both D-Houston, said they would introduce legislation during the next session to develop a comprehensive drainage program to protect property and residents of Harris, Galveston, Brazoria, Fort Bend and Matagorda counties.

"In the long run, it is much more fiscally efficient to spend money on flood prevention than it is to repeatedly spend millions of dollars on disaster relief," Jones said.

Caraway said blame for the flooding could not be placed on any single cause and said land subsidence, urban growth and poor planning all contributed. Both legislators said restrictions on development would not be sought.

"We don't contemplate that it is going to be necessary to set standards of where you can or can't develop," Jones said. "There's no question that development causes additional flooding but what we're trying to do is take care of that additional runoff. We don't have any plan, proposal or thought to inject ourselves into the free enterprise system."

Caraway and Jones said responsibility for water policy currently was spread among 600 area groups.

"The jurisdiction which the upstream area is often more than the one downstream area," Caraway said. "There has been a lack of coordination of drainage control programs and we are years behind in our flood projects."

The officials said it was not possible to estimate the cost of the flood control district but should be funded by state bond appropriation and matching funds.

Anti-trust settlement Dallas firm

United Press International
MONTEPELIER, Vt. — A Texas-based clothing manufacturer has agreed to pay $15,045 to settle a state of Vermont anti-trust case. The firm was charged with violating anti-trust laws by promoting stores from advertising or Haggar products at less than suggested retail price.

Haggar has agreed to stop encouraging shopowners from its products at less than suggested retail price, the state said.

Diamond said the $15,045 settlement includes a civil penalty of $10,000, the maximum allowed under Vermont law, and $5,045 to cover the state's

MANAGER

Seem hard to believe? The average Cafeterias, Inc. manager did earn over $80,000 last year. The average training period to become a manager is 6 to 8 years. Managers attain these earnings by collecting a share of the net profits from their own cafeteria. The average associate manager last year earned $45,500. This earning level is attainable in 3 to 5 years.

To become a manager of one of our cafeterias is a very special business opportunity. You'll be joining an ambitious and progressive company that requires more of its managers than any food chain in the Sunbelt. Local managers are decision making businessmen who are responsible for all purchasing, menu planning, and hiring of personnel. We grant our managers a great deal of autonomy, and treat them as business partners. Cafeterias, Inc. is a firm believer in promoting from within; hence, most Corporate Officers are former unit managers.

Cafeterias, Inc. is not restricting interviews to only Business majors; we're open to all degrees. We're looking for people who are interested in becoming dynamic, aggressive, and well paid business people. If that's your goal, then we're looking for you!
