High fires no problem for parish

United Press International
GRETNA, La. (UPI) — The community of Bunche Village in Jefferson Parish has no skyscrapers, but fire officials believe in preparedness on a grand scale.

The parish council has bought a $293,000 fire truck with a 100-foot aerial tower designed to fight fires in high-rise buildings and rescue victims trapped as high as 10 stories.

A spokesman for Ladder Tower Inc. of Lancaster, Pa., which is assembling the truck, said it is "without doubt the most modern unit in the United States."

The tallest buildings in the Bunche Village vicinity are three-story apartment complexes — but they are not in Bunche Village proper.

However, Aaron Broussard, district councilman, justified the purchase. Streets in the village, he said, often are blocked by railroad cars which can delay firefighters' arrival at a fire.

"As I understand it, this truck has the capacity to project a stream of water over the train and put out the fire at a school on the other side of the track," Broussard explained.

Besides, he said, "Anytime we get federal money to buy firefighting equipment, I think we should get the best money can buy."

Touch Calling available in most areas.

Empress — Rotary and Touch Calling.
Chestphone — not available in Rotary.

HIS & HERS

His, an elegantly carved chest with a hidden treasure. Hers, a flowery phone from the past that keeps right on blooming. Both, designed for the eye as well as the ear.

If you're interested in a more unusual way of talking, try the GTE Phone Mart. Where you can pick up a Chestphone, an Empress phone or any other phone and take it home with you. The Chestphone can be hidden under a clipper ship or surrounded in brown suede. And there are also two versions of the Empress phone—deluxe and standard.

We've got lots of other styles and colors for him, her, them and yourself. And you can see them all at the GTE Phone Mart. Where beauty is in the ear of the beholder.
