

Horns-Coogs showdown set

United Press International
The next and perhaps last of the Southwest Conference show-downs of 1979 will be served up under the plexiglass of the Astrodome next Saturday night.

The options are easily deciphered.
If Houston beats Texas, the Cougars will have all but wrapped up their third Cotton Bowl trip in four years.

If Texas beats Houston, things will be wildly scrambled with the conference championship and bowl bid probably being left in doubt until Dec. 2.

Whatever happens in Houston Saturday night, both the fourth-ranked Cougars and eighth-ranked Longhorns ought to be emotionally ready. They didn't waste any last weekend.

"Houston is just around the corner," said Texas coach Fred Akers following his team's 14-6 victory over Texas Tech. "To win though we will have to be much better than we were in this one."

And in Fort Worth where the Cougars had plenty of trouble fighting off TCU 21-10, coach Bill Yeoman looked at it this way:

"We'll have to back off really good and get emotionally keyed up and be ready. You never like to say you were looking ahead, but it was a possibility."

The Houston-Texas game is just one of two key games on the conference menu next Saturday. During the afternoon in Fayetteville, ninth-ranked Arkansas, a 34-7 winner over Rice last weekend will entertain 18th-ranked Baylor, having had last week off.

Both the Bears and Razorbacks need a win to stay in title contention since they each have one conference loss and both will be pulling for a Texas victory over Houston.

If Houston should defeat Texas, the Cougars would have to lose both of their final two games against Texas Tech and Rice to miss out on the Cotton Bowl.

A combination of Texas and Arkansas victories would leave Arkansas in the best position since — in the event of a three-way tie between the Cougars, Longhorns and Razorbacks, the Hogs would go to the Cotton Bowl because of the "last visit" rule.

A combination of Texas and Baylor wins however would put Texas in good condition — chiefly because the Longhorns would have beaten the Cougars and because Arkansas which beat Texas earlier in the year, would have two conference losses.

But that would also set up the Baylor-Texas game Nov. 24 as a critical meeting.

The Cougars can put a virtual end to all of that speculation of course and Houston is on one of the hottest rolls in the school's history. Even though the Cougars did not play all that well last week they won their eighth straight game and moved to within two victories of their all-time winning streak.

Houston did not commit a turnover against TCU, but did not put the game away until the fourth quarter.

Hector getting down to earth

Texas A&M freshman tailback Johnny Hector dives for yardage against SMU. Hector came in for Curtis Dickey, who left the game with a hip bruise, rushed for 64 yards on 11 carries and scored two touchdowns. Hector turned a kickoff 38 yards to start a touchdown drive in the third quarter.

White 'Horns roll in Big

United Press International
Defense was the name of the game for the Dallas White Longhorns last week as they defeated Dallas Wilson 42-7 and moved to within one game of winning the Class AAAA district championship and a berth in this year's post-season playoffs.

"We were able to get the game under control early and take control," said coach Harold Hill. "Wilson played hard — it just couldn't move the ball against our bigger and stronger defense."

The Longhorns meet Hillcrest this week and Thomas Jefferson in the season finale. A win in either game will clinch the district championship and a play-off berth.

Last week the Longhorn defense allowed only five first downs. And the offense actually gave up the seven points, not the defense. Wilson's only touchdown

was a pass interception.

All four top-rated teams in the Big Spring 56-0. Class 4B points were shutout Sulphur Springs 27-0. AA's Breckenridge downed Fortland 41-6, and Class 1A's Springdown Clifton 16-0.
