Moslem students want U.S. to return shah

United Press International
TEHRAN, Iran — Hundreds of Moslem students, who seized the United States embassy Sunday and held at least 59 Americans hostage, vowed not to surrender until the U.S. returns the deposed shah.

General against Palestinian state

United Press International
TORONTO — Retired Gen. Alexander Haig, who is "testing the water" for a possible Republican Party nomination for the American presidency, says the creation of a Palestinian state would be to the detriment of the entire world.

Haig told a fund raising dinner for an Israeli hospital Sunday that "he has never been convinced that we should have such a state even if it were possible to create one. It would be a magnet and attract every element in the Middle East and not only put the future viability of Israel itself in jeopardy but the very viability of the moderate Arab states upon whose convergence of goodwill future peace will so fundamentally depend."

Haig, former supreme commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Europe, told a news conference that American leaders are not tough enough to withstand the growing Soviet menace in Eastern Europe. He said that if he decides to seek the Republican nomination for president it would be to decrease "the increasingly massive Soviet power." He will make a decision by January.

"You could say I'm testing the water," he told reporters.

He said the United States' NATO allies support the SALT II treaty on nuclear arms limitation only because they see it as some protection against Soviet aggression.

"They don't think the American leadership will be able to get tough when the going gets rough," he said.

Security tight in British trial

United Press International
DUBLIN, Ireland — Two men used of murdering Earl Mountbatten, the favorite relative of the British royal family, went on Monday against a backdrop of tight security.

About 90 witnesses were expected to testify at the trial that is expected to last about three weeks. Both men pleaded not guilty to the murder of Mountbatten.

The prosecution said, in its opening statement, that the bomb which killed Mountbatten was placed aboard the earl's boat hours before it was detonated and that traces of paint from the boat, along with sand from the nearby dunes, were found in the suspects' clothing.

Security officials, fearing attempts to free the two men by the Irish Republican Army, ordered the tightest security since the visit of Pope John Paul II to Dublin in late September.

Church wants no blackmail

United Press International
PHILADELPHIA — The United States must not submit to blackmail over the exiled shah of Iran by forcing him to return to stand trial, Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said Sunday.

Church said while he was never an admirer of the shah or his regime, there was an alliance with the shah and he was "faithful to that alliance and now we must be faithful, too."

"The United States must never submit to blackmail," he said.

He said it would be an "act of dishonor" to accede to the demands of students who occupied the embassy in Tehran Sunday.

MSC MBA/Law Day is an MSC council project designed to inform the student community about possible careers associated with Graduate Degrees in Law and Business Administration. The program is divided into two distinct presentations: the morning session concentrating on law opportunities, and the afternoon presentation concentrating on careers in business administration.

The Program consists of group discussions between students and recent A&M Former Students who have obtained Graduate Business and Law degrees from various schools across the nation. (This year's program includes graduates from schools such as Harvard, Northwestern, Texas, Rice, and Texas A&M.) During these sessions, panel members discuss their present job responsibilities, and other relevant information with people interested in obtaining an MBA or Law degree. The informal atmosphere of these discussions encourages active interaction between the panelists and members of the group.

Also present in the groups are faculty and admissions office representatives from major graduate business and law schools of this region, and the nation. These representatives participate in the group discussions, as well as distribute information and answer questions concerning an individual school's program. Current information, catalogues, and application forms from leading law and business schools nationwide are also available at MBA/Law Day. Separating the morning Law and afternoon MBA presentations is an informal barbeque lunch held in the MSC. This meal provides an excellent opportunity for students to sit down and exchange ideas with an individual alumnus or graduate school representative on a one-to-one basis. For students who have decided upon graduate school, or even those who are undecided, MSC MBA/Law Day is a chance to learn, explore, and ask questions about careers in Business Administration and Law.
