

Sims, White, Wilson the best

United Press International
MISSION, Kan. — The three leading Heisman Trophy candidates — Charles White of Southern Cal, Billy Sims of Oklahoma and Marc Wilson of Brigham Young — all hold down the top spot in a major offensive category, according to NCAA statistics released Tuesday.

White leads the nation in both rushing with 1,803 yards and all-purpose running with an average of 194.1 yards per game. Sims is the nation's scoring leader for the second straight year with 22 touchdowns and 132 points. Wilson is the total offense leader with an average of 325.5 yards per game.

Turk Schonert of Stanford is the passing leader with a rating of 164.5. Rick Beasley of Appalachian State is the receiving leader with 74 catches for 1,205 yards and John Goodson of Texas leads in field goals with 17 in 27 tries for an average of 1.70 per game.

In other categories, Clay Brown of Brigham Young leads in punting with an average of 45.3 yards in 43 kicks, Joe Callan of Ohio is tops in interceptions with nine in nine games. Jeff Shockley of Tennessee State is No. 1 in punt returns with a 16.9 average in 27 runbacks and Stevie Nelson of Ball State is the leader in kickoff returns with an average of 31.4 yards in 18 runbacks.

Horns' Little still limping

United Press International
AUSTIN — Texas quarterback Donnie Little suited up for practice Tuesday, but after running through a few plays found he could not continue and retired to the sidelines for the rest of the workout.

Little missed last week's meeting with Baylor with a foot injury. The Longhorns worked with only four quarterbacks due to the season ending injuries to A.J. Jones and Rodney Tate. LeRoy King ran at first-team left half and Brad Beck was the starting right half-back. Two freshmen, Carl Robinson and Darryl Clark, ran on the second team.

Oilers looking for playoffs Sunday

United Press International
HOUSTON — The home stretch for the streaking Houston Oilers resembles a mine field but it does not lend itself to any light-stepping, Bum Phillips said Tuesday.

"Against physical teams we cannot afford to wait and see what happens. We have to hit them first and then take our chances," said the Oilers head coach as he prepared his team to take the first step Sunday.

Houston travels to Cleveland and then finishes its regular season at home against Pittsburgh and Philadelphia.

His team appeared healthy after three days off this weekend, but the possibility of a letdown with a playoff berth virtually in the bag worried Phillips.

The Browns, 8-5, enter the game off a tough overtime loss to the Steelers Sunday.

"I'm sure the loss took a lot out of them," Oilers center Carl Mauck said.

The Browns are backed against a wall, two games behind Central Division leaders Houston and Pittsburgh, both 10-3.

"I'd a heck of a lot rather have to go up there with them two games back than one game back," Phillips said.

Houston can clinch at least an AFC wild card playoff berth with a win and move to within one game of winning the Central Division first time since they began playing in it in 1970.

The Oilers host Pittsburgh Sunday Dec. 10. Wins over Cleveland and Pittsburgh would make the division winner.

"That's what I want," Phillips said. "The combined records of the final three opponents is 22-10. One of the other eight AFC contenders plays teams with that good."

The NFL has a long tradition of rearing statistics to determine the home field advantage event the two teams have records.

The situation becomes more complicated when Houston loses to Cleveland, beats Pittsburgh and Philadelphia and (2) Pittsburgh beats Cleveland and the Oilers and then loses to Houston and then to Cleveland.

Both Houston and Pittsburgh would end the regular season with 12-4 records and tie on the tiebreakers. The two would play each other, 4-2 against the Oilers.

"I'd a heck of a lot rather have to go up there with them two games back than one game back," Phillips said.
