— Andrew Sarris
Village Voice

"A thriller that ranks with the very best thrillers of the last 10 years. All of us carry on silent arguments with ourselves. We berate, implore, coax, apologize, and lie to ourselves. These internal arguments are at the center of tension in Magic."

French police doubt youth's UFO story

United Press International
CERGY-PONTOISE, France — A teen-ager who disappeared after a reported UFO sighting in the western Paris suburb of Cergy-Pontoise returned home Monday and told police he was unable to recall anything about his week-long absence. Police said Franck Fontaine, 19, told them the last thing he remembered was seeing a glowing sphere about the size of a tennis ball by the hood of his car Nov. 26. Authorities were openly skeptical about the possibility of a UFO kidnapping and scheduled a court appearance for Fontaine and two friends who reported his disappearance to further discuss the matter. Officials, however, said Fontaine and his friends, Salomon N'Diaye and Jean-Pierre Prevot, have not varied from their original statements. The three said the incident began at 4 a.m. when they were loading a station wagon with clothes they hoped to sell at a market in the town of Gisors.
