like the Iowa caucus."

Unlike the polls, a packed house of 8,030 watched David Britton, Rudy Woods, Vernon Smith, Rynn Wright, Dave Goff and assistants polish off the 'other' major contender in the race for the SWC crown. Play-PRE VET ing their defensive game like Boris Spassky, A&M held the usually hot-handed Razorbacks to 45 percent SOCIETY Meeting accuracy from the field and to their Jan. 23 lowest point total in 20 games. The win gives A&M a perfect 6-0 record in conference play and a one game edge over Arkansas, now 5-1, and Texas Tech, idle last night. The Aggies season record is upped to 14-5, also tops in the league

Playing their already superior, but still improving, man-to-man defense and hitting tough inside turnaround jumpers, A&M roared to an early 6-2 lead. Britton slammed a windmill-dunk after a beautiful rebound and outlet pass from Woods to make it 8-2 and Arkansas coach Eddie Sutton called a timeout.

Arkansas, without a point for five minutes, quickly closed the gap to 8-7. Woods responded with one of his three-for-three field goals in the

With their tiringly patient offensive game, though, Arkansas kept the game close for a short while more, tying it up once at 15-15 with 8:57 remaining in the first half. The Ags ruled the next six minutes, holding Arkansas scoreless again, and tossing in eight for the biggest lead of the night. Steals under the Arkansas basket by Goff and Claude Riley were crucial in that run.

offense with five and a half minutes remaining in the half. Arkansas was still able to add six more points before the half, all on free throws. They narrowed the A&M lead to three be fore the buzzer but A&M led 24-20

Arkansas came back from the locker room ready to play and quickly narrowed the lead to 24-22 and 26-25 before jumping into a tie and then the lead at 31-29 on a shot by U.S.

Arkansas had garnered as much as a four point lead at 33-29 and 35-31 when Sutton was hit with a technical. Sutton, who had said, "some-times you just have to take a technical," after his Hogs came back from a 15 point deficit against Houston last week, found his strategy none too successful this time. Goff hit one of the two free throws awarded and Vernon followed a shot on the in-bound play to make the score 36-35 in favor of the Ags again.

Ags beat 'other' team, 45-39

The Aggies, instructed to press, played perhaps their toughest defense of the evening both on the trips down the court and under the basket and it payed off. They never again lost control of the game. Hastings, vital to the Razorbacks at the post, fouled out with 6:30 to go in the game and Sutton's ever present towel dangled limply at his side.

Prime-time rebounding by Smith and Wright and cool Ag heads at the free throw line kept Arkansas from exploiting numerous late game opportunities. A block by Woods with six seconds left was only salt in Britton had 13 points to lead Aggie scorers, and Smith and Wright each tossed in ten. Goff and Woods had six each to round out Aggie scoring. Woods also pulled down six re-bounds, while Smith and Wright each collected five.

Hastings led Hog scorers with 11 points and Reed added 10. Each of them had five rebounds. No other Razorback had more than four points or two rebounds.

"Texas A&M has a great team and played extremely well," said Sutton. Their defense was very good and their crowd gave them quite a lift."

"It was kind of what we expected, you know," said Wright. "They had a tight zone and we expected that. The press didn't bother us either, we can usually break up a press pretty Metcalf was adamant about the turning point, "They got out ahead of us and then we went into the press. It kind of changed the tempo — it picked it up—and they started put-ting the ball up quicker," he said.

"They were having trouble with the press. We started moving on the offensive end. The press helped us two ways. It got us moving and speeded up the tempo a little bit. Then we got out ahead of them and it
