

Gold down, dollar up in European markets

United Press International
LONDON — Gold dropped in value again Monday on European markets. The value of the dollar increased slightly on most.

Gold opened in Zurich at $666 an ounce, down $10 from Friday's close of $676. In London it opened at $675.50, down $14.50 from Friday's close of $690.

In Hong Kong, gold closed at $663.50 an ounce, down $11.50 from Saturday's close. It had opened at $670 an ounce and stood at $672.50 at the morning close, but dealers said prices eased with the lack of buying support at higher levels.

The dollar opened in Frankfurt at 1.7478 marks, up from 1.7450; in Zurich at 1.6368 Swiss francs, up from 1.6348; in Paris at 4.0910 French francs, up from 4.0860; in Amsterdam at 1.93 Dutch guilder, up from 1.9265, and in Milan at 809.35 Italian lire, up from 809.20.

The dollar remained the same in London where the pound sterling opened at $2.2740.

Sakharov threatened by 'drunks'

United Press International
MOSCOW — Soviet dissident leader Andrei Sakharov said in a document released Monday his life had been threatened by two gun-carrying "drunks" and Soviet authorities had warned him to stop his dissident activity or he would be sent even further into exile.

Sakharov, who was banished two weeks ago to the city of Gorky — 250 miles east of Moscow — also said he told authorities he refused to abide by their exile restrictions and demanded to be brought to trial.

The document was released by Sakharov's wife, Yelena Bonner, who so far is not under the restrictions that prohibit Sakharov from leaving Gorky.

Sakharov, 58, said two workers, "ostensibly drunk," came to his Gorky apartment Jan. 28 despite the presence of a full-time surveillance team that has stopped visitors in the past.

"They were toying with a pistol," the document said. "The guy who was holding the gun boasted that he was a very good shot. They threatened to stage another Afghanistan in our apartment and destroy us."

Mrs. Sakharov commented: "They were no more workers than I'm a Chinese princess."

Sakharov said the pair also warned of further reprisals.

"They told us not to hold any hope about staying here (in Gorky) because a space has already been served for them at an insane asylum nearby."

Sakharov said he was summoned to the Gorky prosecutor's office Monday and told he was violating restrictions of his exile by having contact with foreigners, even through a second party.

"The deputy prosecutor made it explicitly clear that if I persist in violating the terms of the exile, I will be deported to another place where sanctions will be taken against my wife as well."

Sakharov, who was banished from his four-room apartment in Gorky alongside a police station, said he also received a death threat by mail.

Winner of the 1975 Nobel Peace Prize, Sakharov said he has rejected the restraints on his civil liberties, rejected the terms of his exile and demanded a public trial.
