United Press International For many American families, Summer 1980 looks like a repeat of ment centers, giant TV sets and screns, with videocassette recording equipment and the like will become Summer 1974, when millions spent the primary focus of consumer dis-cretionary dollars," Sheridan said. their holidays and vacations in their backyards or within 200 miles of the The energy challenge will be the old homestead.

The reasons are basically the biggest obstacle against carefree same: concern over the gas crunch, travel spending in 1980, according to Sheridan. Consumer reaction to the fuel problem already has resulted in the threat of higher prices for fuel and the increasing costs of longa drop of 25 billion automobile distance travel at home and abroad. pssenger miles in 1979, down 2.5

"Personal mobility is a precious thing<sub>2</sub>" said Patrick R. Sheridan, president of Gray Line Sight-Seeing Assn., which conducts tours in 167 United States cities and around the world. "People refuse to give it up, but they'll surely modify it based on their needs and wants, and the willingness to accept a temporary moratorium on their 'round-theworld' dream vacation.

Sheridan feels even the short excursion — from 200 to 750 miles — is getting too costly to handle. In 1974, he said the average expenditure per person for a short vacation was about $100, with 40 percent going to transportation, 25 percent to lodging and Charleston, S.C., Chattanooga, Tenn.; Sante Fe, N.M.; Tulsa, Okl-a.; Sacramento, Calif.; Corpus Christi; and Jackson Hole, Why. food and the remaining 35 percent to other expenses "In 1980, that figure will be closer to $225, with transportation and lodging up sharply. The travel indusand attractions, but not a tourist try is close to the point of no-return. It will be priced out; home entertainsaturation

Grav Line has introduced new tours in these cities and expects destinations likes these to be discovered in 1980 by residents living within 200 miles of them

'Instead of someone from San Francisco splitting for Mexico or the Caribbean, a short trip in the 'neigh-borhood' will be in order," Sheridan said. "The big, luxury holiday will be stored for the future - 1980 is the year of the shortshort vacation.

Gray Lines has been leading tours since 1910 when a young Washington, D.C., restaurateur converted a Mack Truck into an open air sightseeing coach for visitors to the national capital. Gray Line today is the largest sightseeing and related services complex in the world, with 10,000 motorcoaches offering 1490 daily sightseeing excursions in 167 cities in 55 countries.

Sheridan suggests plenty of surprises might be in store for tourists in their own range. "Did you know, for example, that Eureka Springs (Arkansas) is listed in Ripley's 'Believe it or Not' as one of the 10 most unusual towns in America. Street formations show 'S' 16 times, 'V' 51 times. There are 232 streets with no cross streets or stop signs; over 54 miles of retaining walls; 63 springs within the city limits, one million trees within one mile of the post office, including 115 species of foliage and 254 species of wild flowers. It's an almost incredible collection of sightseeing statistics.'

Sheridan said he doubted the automobile will lose its dominance in the American way of life, but it will, as surveys suggest, become a less vital force in travel and transportation.

"With an undeniable and unyielding escalation in fuel prices, there aren't many options," he said. "The American predilection for the good times is vigorous but the pragmatics of our economy - and our own survival - are far more influential in

Yarbrough, who ran unsuccessfully for state treasurer in 1974, shocked Texas political leaders in 1976 by defeating highly respected Civil Appeals Court Judge Charles W. Barrow for the Democratic nomination for the Supreme Court. Within three months of his nomination, a Houston Grievance Committee of the State Bar began hearings on whether it should recommend disbarment of Yarbrough, and in September of 1976 a disbarment suit was filed.

Newspaper reports indicated Yar-brough conspired with William Rothkopf, later to become the chief witness against him, to hire the murder of a business associate ### 20 21 22 23 2 27 28 29 30 3 There's still time to realize a substantial tax savings on 1979 income.

If you are not covered by a retirement plan you can still qualify for a tax-deferred savings plan that reduces your income tax.

The Individual Retirement Account (IRA) offers self-employed workers (and others not covered by any pension or retirement program) an easy way to set aside savings and reduce current income taxes. The maximum amount, established by law, is 15% of income or $1,500 (whichever is less). Married workers can set aside a total of $1,750 if their spouse is not employed.

Under the law you need not open or add to your IRA account during the tax year. You can take full deduction on your contribution so long as you make your IRA deposit prior to filing your tax return (normally prior to April 15). So you still have time to take advantage of this tax savings.

IRA accounts earn the maximum interest permitted by law. New savings plans provide a variety of yields and terms from which to select. A savings counselor at Brazos Savings will assist you in determining the best program for you.

It's easy to set up an IRA. We've streamlined the procedure and minimized the paperwork. You can handle all the details in one visit.

For information on your specific tax situation, talk to your accountant or your attorney. For information on IRA, talk to Brazos Savings.
