

Police impersonators rob 2

By BECKY SWANSON
City Staff

Two men who posed as Bryan police officers and robbed persons at two separate residences in Bryan Sunday morning are still being sought by police.

At about 6 a.m. Sunday, two men wearing suits and carrying pistols entered the home of Laura Hooks at 1200 Ridgedale, Apt. 52, after showing her 9-year-old son a badge.

Once inside, the two men said they were police officers investigating a report of marijuana dealing at the residence.

Hooks said her nephew, Avilado Garza, was staying overnight with her children while she was at work. The men asked Garza for identification and he gave them his wallet.

One of the men took the wallet into the bedroom, saying he was going to check Garza's identification with a walkie-talkie he was carrying.

The man gave the wallet back and Garza said he did not realize until after the men had left that his money was missing.

Police said about $75 was taken. Hooks said she came home from work while the men were still at the house.

"They told me that they were looking for marijuana and I should stay in the room with the kids," Hooks said.

"They had on suits, but they had guns. One of them got out his badge and showed it to me.

"They told me that they were private detectives. They went through all the closets and looked under the mattresses," she said.

A similar incident occurred at 8:15 a.m. Sunday when two men appeared at the residence of Juvenio Paco, 905A Florida St., and presented a badge, identifying themselves as police officers, Bryan police said.

The men entered the residence and told Paco they were there to check for marijuana.

Paco said he told the men he did not have any marijuana and one of them pulled out a .38-caliber revolver and threatened to shoot if he did not turn around and put his hands on the couch, police said.

Paco told police that the men took his money and some money from Antonio Mejro, who was also at the residence, then ran from the house. About $90 was taken.

One of the suspects being sought is described as a 25-year-old black man, about 5 feet 9 inches tall, 160 pounds, with a short afro and light complexion.

The other is a 6-foot, 20- to 25-year-old black male, 210 pounds with a dark complexion and a medium-length afro.

Bryan police lieutenant in charge of detectives, Bobby Riggs, said they have no suspects in the case.

Riggs said their police officers have badges with "Bryan Police" on them and carry identification cards.

Thespians to present play

By ANGELIQUE COPELAND

The Aggie Players will present their production of "Marlin the Magnificent" Thursday and Friday at 8 p.m. and Saturday at 2 p.m. in the Rudder Center Forum.

The story centers around a magician who breaks his magic wand, sending his sorcerous exploits awry.

Chuck McDaniel, director of the all-student production, said the play has all the elements that make it a "fantasy for the whole family."

Besides the magician, (Tom Stimson), there is the traditional beautiful princess, Jill Moore; the required evil queen, Mary-Alice Helman; and her henchmen, Jorge Del Angel and Terry Martin.

Other members of the cast include Marlin's helper, Leslie Stevens; pixie, Dawn Teng and the queen's nephew, Mike Steege.

The show is produced by Sid Catlett with technical director Bruce Monroe.

"We decided to do a show parents could bring their kids to," McDaniel said. "The Theater Arts department hasn't done that kind of show all year and we decided to fill that gap."

McDaniel said that the idea of a Saturday matinee was also designed to bring in the younger crowd.

"There hasn't been a Saturday matinee since I've been here," said McDaniel, a graduate student in English.

Saturday night is usually when the parents want to go out by themselves, and with the show in the afternoon, they can bring the kids to see it and still have the evening for themselves.

But the show isn't just for children, McDaniel said, it has appeal for parents and college students on down. "It's just a positive experience."

Admission is $1 for children, $1.50 for students and $2 for adults.
