

Women tracksters win three

By CAROL HANCOCK
Campus Staff
The Texas A&M Women's track team managed to avoid the scuffles during the Texas Southern University Relays and take top honors in three events Friday and Saturday. In the Aggies' first outdoor meet of the year, while TSU and Prairie View argued over the results of a relay, senior Iris Tipton stayed consistent with her past performances and dominated the shotput with a throw of 44-1 1/2. High jumper Jan

Chesbro won first place in her event, clearing the bar at 5-6. Sandra Brown brought in the only first place in the running events in the 3,000-meter run. Brown set a school record with her time of 9:58.3 then turned around to place third in the 1500-meter run. Lorie Scott placed third in the 3,000, ten seconds after Brown. The field events proved to be the strong point of the Texas A&M team, as Coach Bill Nix predicted. Additional points from the field came from Paula Lake's third place in the longjump, Karen Morgan's third in the javelin and Vickilee Cobern's fourth place in the discus. The sprinters did indeed have a tough time in the sprint-oriented meet and failed to score any points except in the 1,600-meter and the 3,200-meter relays. The argument between Prairie View and TSU resulted in a shoving match among officials and participants with Aggies staying clear of the fracas.

Louisville wins NCAA

United Press International
INDIANAPOLIS — Some have said Louisville was a one-dimensional team whose success rested squarely on the shoulders of All-America Darrell Griffith. But one person has insisted all season it wasn't so. That was Darrell Griffith. Griffith did score 23 points to lead the Cardinals to a 59-54 victory over UCLA in the NCAA championship finals Monday night, to end the Bruins' Cinderella season almost at the stroke of midnight at Market Square Arena. But it was Griffith, the tournament MVP, who insisted the title-winning game was a team effort — as the entire 33-3 championship season had been. "Like I've said before, this team is not just Darrell Griffith. It was an all-out team effort," said the 6-foot-4 senior, the school's all-time leading scorer. It was Griffith's 18-foot jumper that put Louisville ahead to stay, 56-54, with 2:21 left. But it was also the shooting of the "other" guard, Jerry Eaves, the rebounding freshman Rodney McCray and the free-throw shooting of Derek Smith in the closing minutes that also helped insure the victory. Louisville scored the game's last nine points as UCLA, which shot a poor 36.5 percent from the field from the game, saw shot after shot go awry. UCLA, fourth-place finisher in the Pacific-10, completed its season 22-10. UCLA led at halftime, 28-26.

Women's soccer wins again; face Longhorns this weekend

By MIKE BURRICHTER
Sports Editor
The defending state champion Texas A&M women's soccer team defeated Sam Houston State University Saturday to maintain its undefeated status this season. But Aggie coach Alan Heath was not too pleased with his team's performance.

"Boy they stunk," Heath said of the Bearkats. "We stunk less, that's all." Carol Sullivan, an inside forward, scored both Aggie goals in the first half, booting her first from just inside the penalty area and tallying her second on a penalty kick. The other inside forward, Sandra McMaster, scored the second half's lone goal as the two teams engaged in a defensive battle.

"We had some excellent defensive play," Heath said. "Adele Fairman, our center fullback, played a really good game. That really accounted for our shutout." Heath said the team was looking ahead to this weekend's game against last season's state runner-up University of Texas, which the Ags beat in the finals in Dallas 2-1 last December. "The game against Texas will be a real grudge match," Heath said. "I've been in many heated arguments with their coach, Debbie Robertson. She's really abrasive and carries no respect for any of the other teams. And she certainly has no respect for any of the other coaches." "We just went to Huntsville this weekend to go through the motions. It was like a practice. Everyone was thinking about Texas, so we just practiced our Texas game strategy over there." The victory Saturday pushed the Aggie season record to 24-0. Ags have beaten Southwest State University and tied Sam Houston State this season. The Ags won SFA 3-1 at San Marcos in a game that was tied 2-2 in a 15-minute overtime period. "I'm expecting a real match," Heath said. "We're ready for them. It should be a defensive battle like it was last year. Our team will have to be ready for a really physical game. The Aggies and the Longhorns will square off at 1 p.m. Saturday at Cain Field.
