Wilson likes scrimmage

Texas A&M football coach Tom Wilson Wednesday sent his squad

through a 45 minute scrimmage that he said was one of the best of the spring.

"It was definitely our best day of work this spring," Wilson said. "We're not a good football team yet but we are getting there. For the first time since I've been here the offensive line looked like the aggressive unit that it has to be to have a good football team."

The first unit was led by quarterback Mike Mosley.

"I keep talking about Mike but he's having his best spring ever," Wilson said. "He's been a good quarterback in the past but he has really come into his own this spring."

The Aggies will have another scrimmage Saturday, and conclude the last week of spring drills next week with the Maroon and White game on April 19.

Pirates to repeat as East champs

By MIKE BURRICHTER
Sports Editor

The most predictable thing about the National League East is the team winning the division crown will go on to win the pennant, ultimately, the World Series.

The tough part is picking a team to win the major leagues division.

The difference between the East and the West in the National League is like night and day. Or, say the Houston Astros and Pittsburgh Pirates.

There are four legitimate contenders in this division, two teams that have been at the top for the last few years, and two teams that are ready to take the throne.

1) PITTSBURGH PIRATES — The most likely pick to win the division crown is the incumbent champion, The Pirates, with most explosive bats in the senior circuit, should make up for shortcomings in their starting rotation with their tremendous production.

Chuck Tanner, whose platoon-system managing strategy worked in other places because he had nothing to platoon, will be another satisfying year at the Pirates' helm as he has the most 25-man roster in the majors.

While hitters Omar Moreno, John Milner, Phil Garner, and Ed Ott are returning from the best seasons of their careers, pitchers Bert Blyleven, John Candelaria and Don Robinson, sharply. Blyleven had the highest ERA of his career (3.61), and three combined for only 34 wins, Blyleven picking up a career-high Candelaria 12 and Robinson 8. Maybe they got lazy, who could blame them?

Dave Parker will come back from his "off" season (.310, 25 HR, 100 RBI) and will lead the league in at least one offensive category. Milner and Ott will join him in the outfield.

Willy Stargell, who at 38 last year proved leadership qualities not performance at the plate can make you a league MVP, will again be the father of the "family." He will return to first base, his Buddha-like presence will be counted upon to give the Pirates an intangible that sets them apart from the rest of the league. Shortstop Garner, shortstop Foli, third baseman Bill Madlock, catcher Ott make up the rest of one of the most solid, hard-working infields in the league. Madlock, who came to Pittsburgh via Chicago midseason, performed quietly last year. His batting average, and his power, make him a great player. Certainly not a typical Pirate, he does carry the major leagues' highest career batting average in this season and should continue to hit.

Even if the starters do have their troubles, the Pirates can confidently to their bullpen, where Kent Tekulve roosts. Tekulve, becoming the most feared fireman in baseball, has had 31 saves in the last two seasons.

2) ST. LOUIS CARDINALS — The Cardinals finished the season and although they were never serious challengers, flashes of brilliance. That brilliance doesn't exist in their front though, as the Cards bungled a chance to obtain the best relief pitcher, Bruce Sutter.

With Sutter, the Cardinals would be everybody's pick to win the thing. However, with their existing bullpen, the Cardinals are going to have to expect miracles from their unspectacular starting rotation. The acquisition of journeyman Bobby Bonds will supply the power they have lacked for the past few years.

The Cardinals' shortcomings are on the mound. The starting rotation of John Fulgham, Silvio Martinez, Phil Vukovich and Bob Forsch had solid seasons last year, Fulgham, who came up from the minors in July, ended up eight innings shy of winning the league ERA with his 2.53 mark. Vukovich finished second in the league in department two years ago. Martinez has pitched two one-hitters in two-year career and Forsch has pitched a no-hitter. Potentially can be the best rotation in baseball.
